Signs Are Problem For Board

Local Ordinance Seen Unrealistic

A complaint against a Wall Street property scheduled for hearing Wednesday night was withdrawn, decision was reserved on three other proposals, and the Zoning Board of Appeals finds it has a controversial problem pertinent to the ordinance provision dealing with signs.

Attorney George A. Beck, board chairman, today said, in his opinion the provision which limits signs in the city to 50 square feet is "unrealistic" and he was due to discuss the ordinance with Mayor John J. Schwenk.

The hearing was held in the city court room,, City Hall.

It was noted that conditions which existed on the property of Gerald Griffin Jr., at 44 Wall Street, and led to complaints from residents of the neighborhood, have been eliminated, and the board was not required to review them. A sign advertising a real estate business has been removed, it was reported. The ordinance permits operation of a brokerage office in a private home without offensive display.

No Opposition

An application by Dr. Glenn D. VanGaasbeek to use a property at 74 Maiden Lane for his professional office, and an appeal by the Kingston Plaza Inc., after denial of a permit to erect a sign, were unopposed. The sign would be 50 feet high, 32 feet wide and 30 inches thick. This, under provisions of the new ordinance, is excessive, and could remain so, if changes are made. It would be erected near Taylor Street and Washington Avenue.

Operation of a tropical fish shop on a reported retail and wholesale basis at 154 Fair Street, owned by Mrs. N. Hoffman, was opposed.

Attorney Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., representing a group of complainants, some of whom opposed the extra parking of cars in the area because of the business. It was noted that the business required maintenance of some 20 stainless steel tanks.

Other Operator Complains

Opposition also came from the Fins & Feathers Pet Shop, 60 North Front Street, operated by Andrew R. McDermott. It was contended that it's unfair to permit a business to operate by one person in a residential zone, while others in similar businesses are subject to business zone regulations. The operator of the Fair Street business said it had existed for some time without opposition.

Chairman Beck indicated today that business men are opposed to the ordinance section regulating the erection of signs, and he felt that the limit of 50 square feet could affect future business devolopement in the city. Some feel that a sign five by 10 feet, in certain instances, would be too small. Other regulations affecting signs, he said, are also proposed.

List 15 County Groups Invited To World's Fair

May 23 promises to be a big day for Ulster County at the New York World's Fair. To date 15 groups have been invited to appear at the New York State Pavilion on this date, which has been set aside as Ulster County-Kingston Honor Day at the fair.

The names of the groups invited to perform on May 23 were announced by Albert Kurdt, chairman of the Ulster County-Kingston Day Committee.

They are Ellenville High School Band, Highland High School Concert Band, Kingston High School Concert Band, Kingston High School Orchestra, Marlboro High School Band, Marlboro High School Mixed Chorus, Rondout Valley High School, "Dozen Bakers and the Baker's Dozen," a mixed choral group at the Saugerties High School; Saugerties High School Dance Band, Wallkill High School Symphony Band, Treble Choraliers, a ladies choral group from the Saugerties area; Lyric Choristers of Kingston and the Monzeles of Kingston.

Several other applications to appear were submitted but the New York State World's Fair Commission has limited the number of groups in one day to 15. There is a possibility that the other groups submitting applications may be invited to appear on some other day.

The committee was assisted by Joseph Foley of New Paltz, president of the Ulster County School Boards Association and a member of the World's Fair Committee, in making arrangements for the various school

Korea Students Are Against Japan Link

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—More than 42,000 students demonstrated in 10 Korean cities today against the government's negotiations to normalize relations with Japan, but President Chung Hee Park vowed to continue the talks in Tokyo no matter how many turn out.

Backed by armed troops, Park went on the air with an appeal for calm in the face of the biggest outpouring of students since the public rioting brought down President Syngman Rhee in April 1960.

Warns About Reds

Park told the students they were playing into the hands of Communist agitators by persisting in their demonstrations, now in their third day.

But he stressed that the diplomatic talks in Tokyo willl continue and he promised to settle differences with Japan, Korea's overlord for 36 years until the end of World War II, "only on terms most favorable to us."

As he made the radio broadcast, 20,000 students surged through the streets of Seoul chanting anti-Japanese slogans, and denouncing South Korea's Japan policy as "humiliating diplomacy." An estimated 22,000 others clogged the streets of nine smaller cities.

Troops Use Force

Most of the demonstrations were peaceful, but in Seoul several hundred students tried to break through barricades across approaches to the presidential palace. Steel-helmeted troops drove them back with swinging rifle butts. Several students were injured.

The students, most of them of high school age, only got a half mile from the hillside palace.

The negotiations to normalize relations between Japan and South Korea have been dragging on for years, but recently Park and Japanese Premier Hayato Ikeda have been making a determined effort to bring them to a successful conclusion.

No More Change Of Silver Dollars For Paper Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government offers one-dollar packets of silver dust to the public today in an anticlimax to the great silver dolllar rush of 1964.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon announced Wednesday that the government will no longer exchange its silver dollars for paper money.

After another run by coin collectors and dealers, the Treasury supply of cartwheels was down to approximately 3 million. Most of these are old coins and almost all are worth more than face value to collectors. A decision will be made later—probably by Congress—on their disposition.

Complying With Law

To comply with a 1963 law the Treasury will give an unmarked envelope containing a dollar's worth of silver granules to anyone who presents a dollar bill. The paper money must be presented in person to a government assay office in New York or San Francisco.

The Treasury's $1.7-billion worth of silver is expected to last for years. Industrial users have been making intermittent purchases from the government since last September.

Most of the Treasury's silver is in bars worth $1,000 or more.

By stopping the outflow of silver dolllars the Treasury departed from its usual policy of ignoring the numismatic value—the price set by collectors—of a coin.

A Treasury spokesman said the remaining 3 million include the "Morgan"' type coin minted

Police Probe Fire Scene, Apparent Use of Kerosene

Police were asked Wednesday night to investigate the apparent pouring of kerosene on a Hasbrouck Avenue building badly damaged by fire only a few weeks ago, and were told that a fire had again started on a porch roof.

A fire call this morning was for a blaze at the Shell Gas Station, Broadway and West O'Reilly Street.

Firemen were called at 7:41 p. m. Wednesday after a fire was reported at 75 Hasbrouck Avenue. Persons in the area reported seeing the blaze from the street, and firemen said Fred Gouldy, who resides on the second floor in the building, stomped out the blaze before firemen arrived.

Units from Central Station responded to a call at 7:56 a. m. today for a fire in a cornice at the Shell station. It had ap-

GOP Leader Says Fullbright Like Chamberlain Was

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican national chairman, William E. Miller, charges Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., with promoting appeasement.

"'The course Sen. Fulbright advocates is the same road which Neville Chamberlain traveled in the 1930's," Miller said in a statement today. "It is a course which Republicans will oppose now as they have opposed it in the past."

Calls For Revision

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called on the Johnson administration and the nation Wednesday to abandon "old myths'" and face up to "'the new realities of our time."

He called for prompt revision of the Panama Canal Treaty and a new attitude toward Cuba —viewing its Communist Prime Minister Fidel Castro as a nuisance but not a grave threat to the United States.

Miller did not use the word appeasement in his attack on Fulbright. But there could be no other implication to the reference to Chamberlain, the pre-World War II British prime minister who acceded to Germany's territorial demands on its neighbors.

Caused Trial Balloon

Miller said Fulbright's remarks—a 70-minute speech titled "Old Myths and New Realities" delivered to an almost empty Senate chamber—set the stage for the foreign policy debate in the 1964 campaign.

"'This is a trial balloon which the Johnson administration is sending up to prepare public opinion for the acceptance of a foreign policy that could lead only to disaster for the United States and other free nations,"' said Miller, a New York congressman.

Held No Discussions

White House sources described Fulbright's speech as very interesting and with many items worthy of consideration. The sources said Fulbright had not discussed it in advance with any member of the administration and that "specificallly on Cuba and Panama it does not represent the policy of the administration."'

Miller said the real myths in Fulbright's speech were his assumptions that the Soviet Union has "drawn back" from aggressive policies, that "the nature of the Chinese Communist threat" has changed and that more trade with Communist nations will "strengthen the foundations of peace."

Survivors Well After Tanker Is Split by Blast

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—An explosion ripped through the American tanker San Jacinto off the Virginia coast early today, leaving one crew member dead and the two sections of the ship wallowing helplessly in 5- to 10-foot seas.

The master of the stricken vessel, Harold J. Titus, 40, of Pine City, N.Y., who remained aboard the bobbing stern with 36 of the 39 crewmen, radioed that all survivors were well.

Two of the San Jacinto's crew members went aboard the tanker Mobile Pegasus to carry their ship's papers to safety and it was one of these — a steward, M. Dotilla—who died apparently of natural causes.

The others remained aboard the bobbing stern section and rejected plans to be lifted off by helicopter.

A light rain was falling over the area, and the skies were overcast.

The Coast Guard said the Mobile Pegasus had been released from the scene and had started on its way.

The explosion occurred at

Boycott Is Underway By NAACP

Jax Stores Hit, Violence Ebbing

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A boycott of Jacksonville businesses which impose restrictions on Negroes was started today by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The NAACP called for retaliation against "Jim Crow merchants" even as a group of white and Negro leaders groped for a way out of the city's four-day-old racial crisis.

Food, Medicine Approved

"Spend your money only where you are respected," Rutledge Pearson, city and state NAACP president, told a Wednesday night meeting of the organization.

The boycott was approved, by the largest chapter turnout in recent months, against all businesses except those selling food and medicine.

The violence which left one Negro women dead and several persons injured showed signs of subsiding, although one gang attack on a white man and a fire bomb incident were reported on Wednesday night.

Incessant false alarms kept firemen on the run for the third night, but rock-throwing and other vandalism subsided.

Hospitalized with a jagged 3-inch laceration of the forehead was Lester Phillips, 53. He told police he was struck by a brick during an attack by 12 to 15 Negroes.

Three Wild Days

Backed by Mayor Haydon Burns, a biracial group quickly went into action to restore peace and resolve segregation issues following three days and nights of scattered shootings, a killing, numerous injuries and mounting property damage from fires and rocks.

"I hope we will be able to get our group together," said Robert Milius, department store executive and a leader in the biracial committee — sanctioned by the mayor but not offficially linked to the city government.

A leader of Negro demonstrations warned of large scale activities unless progress in desegregation is made.

"If Jacksonville doesn't do something today or tomorrow, this town's going to turn to mass demonstrations," said Rutledge Pearson, president of the state and local chapters of Advancement of Colored People.

Excluded from the biracial group, Pearson said he did not know whether the NAACP would participate in the peace group aimed at places of public accommodation.

Some Optimistic

Milius and other members of the committee were optimistic, however.

A few Negroes staged sit-ins briefly Wednesday at two restaurants, were turned away from a third place and picketed a hotel. They were not arrested.

In Washington, President Johnson heard from Justice Department officials about this city's troubles. White House sources said he concluded it was "a local situation at this point."

A similar reaction came from Gov. Farris Bryant in Tallahassee.

Special Session in Store On Liquor-Pricing Stand

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's insistence on passage of his liquor-pricing bill forced the 1964 Legislature into an extra day today, and he quietly sent word that he was prepared to recall the lawmakers into special session if necessary.

A source close to the Republican governor said Rockefeller also might refuse to sign a bill appropriating funds to implement a $25-million increase in school aid unless the Legislature yielded to his demand.

Rockefellller thus applied maximum pressure to the adjournment-bound Legislature in an all-out effort to force the GOP majorities to acceept his controversial liquor program.

The governor's political strategists advised him that a setback at this stage might impair his reputation as a leader and cripple his chances for the GOP presidential nomination.

The intense, behind-the-scenes struggle over the liquor billl, which overshadowed all other legislative action Wednesday forced the Senate and Assembly to postpone their scheduled adjournment until today while efforts continued to round up votes.

After a closed conference of the Assembly's GOP majority Wednesday night, Speaker Joseph F. Carlino expressed confidence that he would produce the 76 votes needed to pass the bill. Some of those would have to come from the Democrats, he said.

Other well-posted informants reported, however, that Carlino was still far short of the votes he needed. It was learned that fewer than 40 of the 85 Republican assemblymen indicated at the conference that they would go along with the governor.

The Assembly's Democratic minority leader, Anthony J. Travia, said he doubted that Carlino could rally any support

Students May Take Dismissal to Court

Court action was indicated today as a final effort to lift expulsion — or suspension — of two of four boys from Kingston High School in the recent publication of the satirical publication, SMOCK.

Attorney Robert A. Ronder, representing the two youths, said that if school administrators "leave no other choice, but to take the matter to court."

Dan H. Allen, principal of KHS, gave written notice to the parents of the four pupils involved that they have been "expelled" from school as a result of the ill-fated pupil publication. However, Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston Schools Consolidated, told The Freeman on Tuesday that the pupils were "suspended" until the end of the school term on July 1, rather than "expelled."

Ronder said that it was understood that the boys were expelled, not suspended.

Explains About Term

Asked today about the use of the word "expelled" in a letter to parents of the boys involved in the matter. Principal Allen said the term is "commonly known as expelled" and he added "the technical term is suspension from school."

In reply to a reporter's question about reports that some of the boys had been enrolled in other schools, Allen said he knows efforts have been made to get the boys in other schools, but to his knowledge, none had been enrolled.

He said if they have, he has not been notified.

Attorney Ronder told The Freeman today that neither of the boys he represents has been accepted "in any school" although both have tried to enroll in a number of schools, some more than 20 miles from Kingston. Ronder said one of the two is scheduled to be interviewed by school officials in another school on April 6, although there is no assurance at this time he will be accepted.

Aims at Clarification

In a prepared statement today, Attorney Ronder said the statement is given "to clarify recent misstatements made relating to the issues raised by the recent expulsion of four Kingston High School students for the printing of a satirical publication."

Ronder stated that many letters have been sent and phone calls made to the various school authorities requesting the reduction of sentences. He also noted that petitions are circulating throughout the community, and he urges the school administra-

Tribesmen Join Religious Riots, Use Bows, Arrows

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Primitive Christian tribesmen armed with bows and arrows today were reported joining in the religious rioting in eastern India as the official death toll approached 300.

Christian Adivasi tribesmen in Bihar State, angered over reports of Moslem terror against Christian tribesmen in neighboring East Pakistan, attacked Moslems and burned two villages.

Plan More Attacks

Chief Minister K. B. Sahay told the Bihar Legislature large numbers of Adivasis are roaming the area near the Bihar-Orissa State borders and have announced plans to attack two more villages.

Claiming the army is now in full control of major towns in Bihar State, Sahay gave the first public inkling of the gravity of Hindu-Moslem rioting last weekend in the steel town of Jamshedpur.

171 Are Killed

He said 171 persons—164 of them Moslems—were killed. Police bullets killed seven, he said. Sahay's death figure was 101 above any official figure issued previously.

Army troops, flown into eastern India by the thousands, were reported able to prevent any major outbreaks of violence in larger cities and towns, including the Orissa State steel center of Rourkela, where more than 60 persons have been killed.

Cautions Against Pullout

Sees Present Plans Bringing Victory

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The loss of South Viet Nam to the Communists would be a clear sucesss for Communist China that would endanger a vast area of Asia in which 240 million people live, U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said today.

In prepared answers to questions put to the ambassador by Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, Lodge made these other points:

Against Neutralization

1. Lodge believes South Viet Nam's war against the Viet Cong can be won by appplying current plans, "provided external hostile influences stay within bounds."

2. The general withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Viet Nam at this time would be "'disastrous.'"

3. Neutralization of South Viet Nam as proposed by France and Communist bloc nations would be "the complete equivalent of Communist victory."

Gallagher submitted his questions to Lodge during a visit to Saigon earlier this week. The AP general manager is now in the Philippines.

These were the questions and answers:

Q. Why is the freedom of South Viet Nam important to the United States?

Eyed as Satellite

Lodge: "Communist China wants to turn Viet Nam into a satellite. The war in South Viet Nam is advertised by them as a 'war of liberation'—on which they base their propaganda line that their brand of communism is superior to the Soviet brand: and that the United States is both the world's greatest imperialist power and also a paper tiger which is unable or unwilling to use its own power."'

"Then, South Viet Nam is the hub of an area which is bounded on the northeast and east by Formosa and the Philippines, on the south by Indonesia, and on the west by Burma. Communist seizure of South Viet Nam would put the Communists squarely into the middle of Southeast Asia, whence they could radiate all over.

Incalculable Effect

"The loss of South Viet Nam would have an incalculable effect on Cambodia and Laos, with strong repercusssions further west in Thailand and Burma. It would shake Malaysia to the south, it would surely threaten Indonesia. If Indonesia were unable or unwillling to resist, the Chinese Communists would be on the front doorstep of Australia.

"Eastward, the repercussions for the Philippines and for Formosa would be severe. Therefore, when we speak of Southeast Asia, we are not talking of some small neck of the woods, but of an area about 2,300 miles long from north to south, and 3,000 miles wide from east to west, with about 240 million people.

"If the Communist Chinese, using North Viet Nam as a catspaw, were able to take over South Viet Nam, it would be interpreted as a vindication of the fanatic Chinese methods over that of the Soviets. It would also be regarded in the free world as reflecting a general lack of ability, a lack of will

Senate in Favor Of Water Request For New Brewery

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Trouble brewed in the Senate over the town of Carmel's desire to take water from New York City's reservoir for a beer plant, but majority Republicans bottled the uprising.

The Senate Wednesday night voted 43-14 to give final legislative approval to a bill that would permit Carmel, in Putnam County, to divert 2 million gallons of water for use by the Rupert Brewery.

The brewery is abandoning its old plant in the city and plans to build a $26 million plant in rural Carmel.

Baker Probe Is All But Over, Actions Fading

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barring an unexpected upheaval, the Senate's investigation of Bobby Baker's dealings appears to have faded away.

Republicans still talked about trying to have a couple of more witnesses called before the Senate Rules Committee, but they voiced only faint hope. Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., said no more hearings were scheduled in the effort to find whether conflict of interest had been involved.

What looked like the end came quietly Wednesday night without any of the partisan uproar that in recent days had brought Republican cries of "whitewash" and Jordan's countercharge of "back-alley politics."

Testimony at Wednesday's hearing produced these highlights about the dealings of Baker, who resigned under fire last Oct. 7 as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority:

Edward Hugler, a government auditor on loan to the committee, said examination of Baker's federal income tax returns for 1959 through 1962 had shown only "a few discrepancies."

He and another witnesss, Milton L. Hauft, an accountant who helped Baker prepare his 1961 and 1962 returns, said they could not explain $40,000 of income reported by Baker in 1962.

Hauft also testified that his name had been forged to the 1961 return filed by Baker but that the tax due was correctly reported. He said no attempt had been made to imitate his signature but he didn't know what to call it except forgery.

The committee's investigation centers on how Baker, while on the Senate pay roll at $19,600 a year, acquired a fortune he estimated in excess of $2 million.

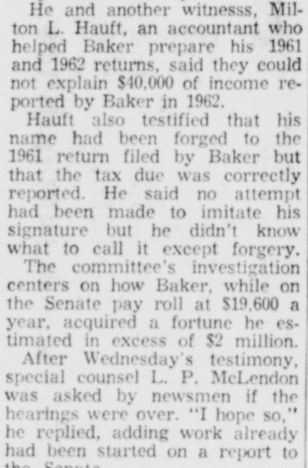

After Wednesday's testimony, special counsel L. P. McLendon was asked by newsmen if the hearings were over. "I hope so," he replied, adding work already had been started on a report to the Senate.

No Injuries Result

A collision involving a tractor-trailer and sedan occurred at 3 p. m. Wednesday on Route 9W, near the Greene County line in the Town of Saugerties. State Trooper Robert Houghtaling, Kingston sub-station, said Chester Martin, 46, of 11 John Street, West Keansburg, N. J., was driving a tractor-trailer south on the highway and Walter Cooper, Route 1, Monroe, was operating his car north when the vehicles collided. No injuries were reported.

Hudson Mayor Is For School by Name of Edwards

Mayor Samuel T. Wheeler of Hudson, has added his support to a movement to name a new elementary school in that city after Dr. John L. Edwards, who has served as chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority.

Supporting his endorsement of the movement to honor Dr. Edwards, a resident of Hudson, Mayor Wheeler said:

"The life and career of Dr. Edwards, both from a professional and personal standpoint, has been an inspiration to the entire community. It has been truly amazing that this man burdened with the heavy schedule of his professional life, has found it possible to devote time to civic and other responsibilities.

"His work has encompassed the federal, state, county and city areas. The many personal touches of this remarkable man are too innumerable to record, and further, this fine citizen would discourage anyone who attempted to.

"While there is a deep bond of affection and respect between the community and this eminent physician-surgeon, I feel that dedicating the school in his honor would be a fitting and proper tribute to the public career of an outstanding man and citizen."

Alderman Benjamin Murell said he will ask the Common Council to urge and recommend to the Board of Education that the new school be named in honor of Dr. Edwards.

Physician Talks On Glenn Injury

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The brunt of a concussion suffered by former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. Feb. 26 was absorbed by his left inner ear, his doctor says.

Dr. Earl W. Brannon said in an interview that the Marine lieutenant colonel is making a normal course of recovery from an injury of this type. He described it as labyrinthitis, an inflammation of the inner ear, generally caused by an injury or infection.

Time Important

Brannon, chairman of the department of orthopedic surgery at Wilford Hall Air Force Hospital where Glenn, 42, has been since March 6, said "time is the important thing" in recovery.

Glenn slipped as he was attempting to hang a mirror in the bathroom of his temporary Columbus, Ohio, apartment and slammed his head against the bathtub.

The fall delayed Glenn's retirement from the Marine Corps and his campaign for the Democratic U.S. senatorial nomination in Ohio. He hopes to be retired now on April 1, but Brannon indicated it might be later.

"And we remain hopeful that he will be able to meet his political commitments," Brannon said. "Col. Glenn certainly has no intentions of pulling out of the race."

As a result of the blow, there was swelling and bleeding under the skin and in the muscle over the bone. This was a superficial bruise about the size of a goose egg and has since healed.

The shock wave from the blow, or what is called a concussion, was localized in the area of the temporal bone in the portion of the skull that houses the ear.

No Loss of Hearing

Primarily, the damage was in the innner ear, or labyrinth portion. The inner ear has two functions—hearing and equilibrium.

In Glenn's case, the brunt of the concussion was taken up in the equilibrium center that controls a person's balance and coordination.

He suffered no loss of hearing.

When Glenn sits too long, turns his head too abruptly, or walks for any distance he experiences dizziness and a loss of balance associated with nausea.

Treatment has included plenty of rest and primarily administration of medicines to relieve dizziness and reduce swelling, Brannon said. "There has been no surgery."

Hurt by Sledge Hammer

While working at the Hudson Cement Co. plant on North Street, Wednesday afternoon, William Lawton, of 66 Third Avenue, was injured when a 16-pound sledge hammer fell on his hand. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's ambulance and treated for abrasions and lacerations and a possible fracture.

Under Supplemental Budget:

Two Top Educators Would Receive $40,000 Annually

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state's top two education officials would rank second only to the governor on the state salary scale, under provisions of the supplemental budget before the Legislature for passage today.

The budget authorizes salaries of $40,000 a year each for the state education commissioner and the president of the state university.

The pay for these posts now is set at $28,875, the same as all other heads of major state departments.

The governor is paid $50,000. Folllowing him, at present, are the attorney general and comptroller, at $30,000 each.

Introduced Wednesday

The supplemental budget was introduced Wednesday. It contains funds for needs not fully detailed when the main budget was submitted Jan. 22.

The total of new spending in the supplemental budget totals $9.3 million.

It also contains $12.5 million to implement a school-aid increase authorized by the Legislature previously.

The main budget contains enough money to cover the various items of new spending and thus the overall total of the new state budget—$2.92 billion—will not be changed.

Had Money Trouble

A highlight of the supplemental budget is the elimination of the Joint Legislative Committee on Sports and Physical Fitness.

That agency ran into financial troubles and a good deal of publicity last year when it spent its entire annual appropriation, $30,000, in six months.

Records showed the funds were spent for, among other things, meals at high-priced restaurants, trips to California and Nevada and stops in expensive hotels.

Major items in the supplemental budget are $3 million to extend a self-insurance program on state construction projects and $1 million to launch a program of subsidies to put low-income families in middle-income housing.

The subsidy plan was approved earlier in the Legislature and the appropriation was a formality.

Reasons for Raises

The pay raises for the education officials apparently stemmed from troubles the State University has encountered in filling the president's chair, which has been empty for more than a year.

The $11,125-a-year raise was seen as a move to make the job more attractive.

Because the state education commissioner ranks higher in public education than the president of the State University, provisions were made for raising the commissioner's salary also.

James E. Allen Jr. now is state education commissioner. He also is president of the University of the State of New York which comprises all education in the state.

In another increase the supplemental budget provides for a $3,500 raise, to $16,500, in the personal allowance of the lieutenant governor. That amount is in addition to his salary of $20,000 a year.

Dockers to Honor Ousted President

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo longshoremen plan to honor Hal C. Banks, who is currently on trial on conspiracy charges following his removal from the presidency of the Seafarers International Union of Canada.

David M. Connors, president of the Buffalo Joint Council of Longshoremen (AFL-CIO), said Wednesday that, through Banks' efforts, "the Canadian seaman ranks as one of the best paid, quartered and fed sailors in the world."

Great Lakes ports have been racked by violence and boycotts since Banks and the 15,000-member SIU were expelled from the Canadian Labor Congress in 1960 for raiding other unions for members.

Eight days ago, the government board of trustees for Canada's Maritime Union ousted Banks from the SIU presidency.

He is now on trial in Montreal.

The Buffalo council said it would give Banks its Owen Kavanaugh award on May 24 for his "outstanding service to the labor movement, particularly in the maritime field," Connors said.

Fined $100 for Vehicle

John S. Monforte, RD 1, Rock Cut Road, Walden, booked Wednesday on a charge dealing with driving an overlength, combination vehicle, was sentenced in city court today. City Judge Joseph D. Saccoman gave him the choice of a $100 fine or 10 days in jail. The charge was lodged by State Trooper William Cameron, who had stopped Monforte on Wall Street.

MASSIVE WEAPONS

Last year the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency was granted $7.5 million by Congress. This year for fiscal '65, the agency is asking $11 million.

It would be nice to think that this rise in the budget is a symptom of a developing peace race. This is not necessarily so.

It's obvious how money is spent on armament, but how do you spend it on DISarmament? One example is a $40,000 grant recently made by the agency to Dr. Sebastian de Grazia, professor of political science at Rutgers University.

De Grazia fears that the hydrogen bomb and other massively destructive modern weapons could destroy democracy — even though they are never used. He proposes to use the money to finance a five-year study of the problem.

Weapons have had a profound influence on political systems in history. According to De Grazia, the invention of the stirrup may have been a major cause of the rise of feudalism.

Before the stirrup, it was difficult for a man to fight on horseback. With it, the horseman became the most effective weapon of the time and the maintenance of the feudal system was based on mounted shock troops.

Another invention, the cannon, helped end feudalism.

The dilemma facing us today, says De Grazia, is that a government which possesses incredibly powerful weapons may no longer need the support of large numbers of its citizens, either as soldiers or workers. It may thus become less and less responsive to the wishes of the people.

"A country," he says, "may go along ignoring the political changes that stem from weapons until one day it wakes to find itself so changed as to be no longer recognizable."

Forty thousand dollars might be enough to buy a very small, used cannon today.

Well, Liz and Richard finally got hitched. Somehow, this long-awaited event doesn't seem to have altered the course of history a bit.

INDIA INVASION ROUTE

The neutral kingdom of Nepal is a small but significant buffer between Tibet and India. Its protective value for India — specifically, in guarding against invasion by the Red Chinese who control Tibet — has been enhanced by the fact that there is no road crossing Nepal from Tibet to the south.

These facts lend special interest to the announcement that 500 Red Chinese will go into the little mountain kingdom this spring to direct completion of just such a road. When it is finished, automobiles and military vehicles will be able to travel from the Tibetan capital of Lhasa down through Nepal to Raxaul in northern India.

When King Mahendra of Nepal signed the road agreement with Peking in 1961 he answered India's protests by declaring, "Communism doesn't travel by automobile." It is true that the Red ideology has other means of spreading. But India has good reason to be nervous about this new road that will provide a made-to-order invasion route.

The latest thing in seat belts is one that has to be fastened before you can start the car. Another blow at personal freedom.

KITES AND SAFETY

We are nearing the beginning of the kite flying season and kites can be a danger as well as fun.

Utility companies in an endeavor to make this a safe kite season urge area residents to take a few simple precautions so that the excited smiles of the kite flyers do not turn to cries of anguish.

Don't cross streets or highways while flying kites. Don't fly a kite with metal in the frame or tail. Don't use tinsel string, wire or any twine with metal in it. Don't fly a kite near TV or radio aerials. Don't fly a kite near electric power lines. Don't pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a snagged kite. Don't touch fallen electric wires. Don't fly a kite in the rain.

This is quite a list of "don'ts." But is doesn't stand in the way of the pleasure in kite flying. Fun and safety, after all, can run together.

BARRY'S BOYS GET BACK THEIR MORALE

The effect of the recent endorsement of Barry Goldwater for President by the California Republican Assembly at Fresno has been to restore the morale of the Goldwaterites nationally. But Goldwater's own morale, on the testimony of those close to him, stiffened a little bit earlier. When he went into New Hampshire he didn't really want to run. But the New Hampshire experience in defeat blooded him.

The truth is that it was not until around the middle of February, too late to save the day in the Granite State, that Barry Goldwater really committed himself emotionally to his campaign. True enough, he had formally declared his candidacy early in January. But he did so without enthusiasm, as a matter of duty. He felt (a) that he couldn't let the people down who had labored so hard and so long in the Draft Goldwater movement, (b) that he couldn't disillusion the growing number of young conservative Republicans, many of whom are still in college, who will be carrying the banner of the party eight or ten years from now, and (c) that many candidates for Congressional and local offices were counting heavily on him to be the decisive element in their own campaigns.

The psychology of a reluctant man carrying the burden of others contributed a good deal, so Goldwater's associates feel, to the lackadaisical approach in New Hampshire. But that was five and more weeks ago, Says Dick Kleindienst, the former Republican State Chairman of Arizona who is national director of field operations for the Goldwater movement, "You wouldn't know it was the same Barry if you watched him campaign in California. In New Hampshire he kept trying to cut down on the number of his appearances. But in California, when I reduce a daily round of scheduled appearances from fifteen to seven, Barry puts 'em all back."

What made Goldwater really angry in New Hampshire was the distortion, as he saw it, of his remarks on social security. The refrain, "if you vote for Barry you'll lost your social security," which was dinned into the New Hampshire public over and over again at thirty minute intervals on TV and radio toward the end of the campaign, impressed Goldwater as cynical demagogy, for it had nothing to do with his real proposal to let each individual choose between government and private insurance. Realizing, however, that he had slipped in phrasing his beliefs in New Hampshire, Goldwater capitulated to his organization on the subject of "shooting from the hip." He now disciplines his free-and-easy nature by submitting to an hour's discussion and briefing every morning before campaigning. And at least three hours of discussion precede every important TV question-and-answer appearance.

The people in the Goldwater organization know that they cannot stop their man from giving spontaneously candid answers to questions. But since he is being watched as no other campaigner is being watched, they know that gaiety and irrepressibility will be called "juvenility" by their enemies. Naturally, they argue that irrepressibility is not the same thing as irresponsibility. They point out that Goldwater, in his "The Conscience of a Conservative," has said many of the same things that Walter Lippmann, one of the severest Goldwater critics, says in his own book, "The Good Society."

Wrote Lippmann: "For the greater the society, the higher and more variable the standards of life, the more diversified the energies of its people for invention, enterprise, and adaptation, the more certain it is that the social order cannot be planned ex cathedra or governed by administrative command. We live in such an immensely diversified civilization that the only intelligible criterion which political thinkers can entertain in regard to it, the only feasible goal which statesmen can set themselves in governing it, is to reconcile the conflicts which spring from this diversity. They cannot hope to comprehend it as a system. For it is not a system. They cannot hope to plan and direct it. For it is not an organization."

Goldwater believes ardently in this bit of Lippmannia. He phrased the same type of philosophy with less rhetorical elaboration in "The Conscience of a Conservative" — but he doesn't think his simpler style merits the accusation of being "juvenile."

The DOCTOR SAYS

Snorer Is Butt of Jokes, But He's Not the Victim

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If you are a snorer, you are not the victim; your roommate is. Snoring is the subject of many jokes but the humor drains out of all of them in the middle of an otherwise peaceful night.

Let it be said to the credit of the snorer that his snoring is purely involuntary, although how he manages to sleep through all that racket remains one of life's unsolved mysteries.

Basically the cause of snoring is vibration of the soft palate and uvula. The underlying causes are many. Lucky is the person who is married to a snorer for whom a correctible cause can be found.

Such causes include enlarged tonsils and adenoids; a swollen uvula (usually associated with a throat infection); nasal obstruction (due to allergy, infection, a nasal polyp or a deviated nasal septum); falling asleep without removing poorly fitted dental plates—a bad practice at best; excessive smoking or drinking which results in a chronically inflamed throat; and, in some persons, old age, which may result in relaxation of the facial muscles and thus facilitate snoring.

The first step in treatment is for the snorer to have a thorough checkup to discover the cause of his snoring and correction of any contributory factors found. Operations for the removal of the uvula and part of the soft palate should never be done. Unfortunately, in many snorers no obvious cause can be found and the treatment then boils down to devices applied to the snorer or his captive audience.

The government has granted patents to over 300 sure-fire "snore stoppers." If any one of them was as good as it was alleged to be, it would have a clear field. None of them are very effective so perhaps the ultimate solution is ear plugs for the real victim.

Q—Is there anything you can take for a Pseudomonas infection?

A—If you have such an infection the chances are you have been taking penicillin or a related antibiotic. Pseudomonas germs are common in our environment but usually cannot gain a foothold in the body unless antibiotics have suppressed other germs that are normally present.

Infection with this organism may occur in the skin, bones, joints, eyes, ears, sinuses, heart, brain, bladder and lungs. If the infection is localized, irrigation with 1 per cent acetic acid may be all that is needed. For more persistent infections, nitrofurazone or such antibiotics as polymyxin, colistin, streptomycin, neomycin and tetracycline may be effective if they can be brought into contact with the infection.

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—It is not true that it is only the uneducated, the very young and the very old who are having a difficult time finding jobs.

Strangely enough, in this day of automation, there are reports by experienced engineers and other technical men that it's hard for them to find openings.

Employment agencies in some key areas say they're having trouble in placing engineers, especially research engineers.

Private surveys in some areas indicate there are 35 to 40 per cent fewer engineer job openings than in the past.

Studies of advertisements in some key newspapers indicate companies are being more selective in their job offers. There's more of a tendency to insist on men with scarce specialties. A firm will want an electronic engineer but will specify, for example, that he must have atomic experience.

The percentage of the unemployed classified as professional and technical, while still very small, is running larger than for many years.

THE LATEST but incomplete and unpublished reports from some college campuses show that at schools where each graduating engineer last year received 20 or more job offers, this year the engineering seniors are getting 10 to 15 offers at most. While starting salaries are up, they're up less than usual, compared with other occupations.

These surveys also indicate there's been a shift in the type of firms actively looking for engineers. A year ago it was the defense industries. Today, in areas that have reported so far, the bulk of the recruiters are from civilian, nondefense industries.

This is not to say that times are really rough for engineers. It's probably just more difficult for the average engineer to get the job he wants.

Specialists speculate that many companies are gradually weeding out their engineering staffs, holding on to their top men, replacing their average men with young college graduates. The younger men cost less, are more flexible, have better training and will be of more value in a decade or so.

Some firms are meeting the problem by giving their experienced engineers opportunities for advanced study. A growing number of engineers are reported taking courses on their own time.

AS ONE INDUSTRY MAN EXPLAINS IT, defense and space research are changing basic concepts so rapidly that many of their middle-level engineers, even those with advanced degrees, are being bypassed by new developments.

Of all the major occupational categories, science and engineering are the ones most affected by government programs.

Nearly two out of five of all our scientists and engineers and three out of five of all our "research and development" scientists and engineers are working for or on behalf of the government. The bulk of these men is concentrated in the government itself and in aircraft and missiles, electrical equipment and communications.

Recent retrenchment plans in defense research and development and forecasts of future cuts are forcing cutback programs in defense industries, which employ large numbers of research scientists and engineers.

This engineer employment problem comes at the very time the government is working on plans to increase the output of engineers to meet the needs of the automation age and to keep the United States ahead in the technological race with Russia.

Fulbright Talk Likened To Chamberlain's View

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Since the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today is a member of President Johnson's own political party, the world will read with surprise a speech just made by Sen. J. William Fullbright, head of that important committee. He advocates a policy with respect to Cuba and the Soviet government that will be widely construed as a kind of passive acquiescence in the Communist behavior in the cold war, if not a willingness to appease the Communist regimes.

Sen. Fulbright's views, it has been noted by the White House, are his own. But nevertheless it is significant that anyone as prominent in Congress as the chairman of the Senate Relations Committee should be making the following series of declarations:

"The master myth of the cold war is that the Communist bloc is a monolith composed of governments which are not really governments at all, but organized conspiracies, divided among themselves perhaps in certain matters of tactics, but all equally resolute and implacable in their determination to destroy the free world.

"I believe that the Communist world is indeed hostile to the free world in its general and long-term intentions, but that the existence of this animosity in principle is far less important for our foreign policy than the great variations in its intensity and character both in time and among the individual members of the Communist bloc . . .

"For a start, we can acknowledge the fact that the Soviet Union, though still a most formidable adversary, has ceased to be totally and implacably hostile to the West. . . .

"It is not communism as a doctrine or communism as it is practiced within the Soviet Union or within any other country, that threatens us. . . .

"It is not Communist dogma as exposed within Russia, but Communist imperialism that threatens us and other peoples of the non-Communist world. In so far as a great nation mobilizes its power and resources for aggressive purpose, that nation, regardless of ideology, makes itself our enemy."

What is overlooked is that a dictatorship or totalitarian government can and does utilize to its advantage the discipline of the Communist party itself.

Unquestionably, there are differences between certain states in the Communist bloc, and it is conceivable that in due time some of them may be weaned away from Moscow or Peking. But Sen. Fulbright's contention that the disputes inside the Communist group of countries have become more important to American foreign policy than the activities and insidious operations of the Moscow government throughout the globe will be strongly disputed.

It is perhaps in the field of Latin-American policy that Sen. Fulbright's speech will evoke the most criticism. For he openly declares that America's policy in trying to isolate Cuba politically and economically and to persuade other free-world countries to maintain economic boycotts against Cuba has been a "failure." He says, "there is no reason to believe that it will succeed in the future."

The Arkansas Senator insists that he is "not arguing against the desirability of an economic boycott against the Castro regime, but against its feasibility." He said the "failure" has not been due to any "weakness" or "timidity" on the part of the U. S. government, but that the policy cannot succeed "unless we are prepared to take drastic sanctions" against our own allies. He contends that the prospects of "bringing down the Castro regime by political or economic boycott have never been very good." and he concludes:

"Having ruled out military invasion and blockade, and recognizing the failure of the boycott policy, we are compelled to consider the third of the three options open to use with respect to Cuba: The acceptance of the continued existence of the Castro regime as a distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger so long as the nations of the hemisphere are prepared to meet their obligation of collective defense under the Rio Treaty."

But Mr. Fulbright assumes a strength on the part of the inter-American organization that it does not possess today, largely because moral force has never been effectively used to denounce the tyranny that exists in Cuba, where a Communist apparatus has taken over the country. The Arkansas Senator overlooks the fact that the U. S. is the principal force inside the inter-American system and that, if this country throws in the sponge in the fight against Castro, the Latin-American countries will be inclined to do likewise.

Sen. Fulbright deplores what he terms "excessive moralism." Yet if the U. S. abandons moral principles in world policy and turns toward the so-called "practical" side, with its materialistic motivation, and, in effect, admits that it cannot exercise its influence in the world for the good of downtrodden nations just because success is not immediately attainable, then the hopes of many peoples—that some day they may depend on the moral support of this country as they try to liberate themselves from dictatorship—will be wrecked on the seas of despair.

Sen. Fulbright's speech undoubtedly will be widely discussed, for it represents a point of view of many persons inside and outside our government who believe, as Chamberlain did in 1938, that a little bit of appeasement can never be harmful or bring on war. History, however, tells a different story.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

The other day I was asked when the last day line boat made the trip to Kingston. I had a telephone call from Mrs. Briggs of Washington Avenue, wife of Capt. Henry B. Briggs, who told me it was on October 1928. I think she told me, that her husband was captain for some 40 years on the Hudson, his first boat being, the Albany, back around 1920 when they married. Her sister, was wife of Captain McGee, of the De Witt Clinton. Her husband's brother, Captain Frank D. Briggs, was captain of the Peter Stuyvesant.

I remember those dapper officers on the Dayline boats, in their handsome uniforms. I asked her, what it was like to be the wife of the captain. She told me, she often made the trip with him, and a seat was reserved in the dining room for the captain and his wife. She enjoyed the trips, except when the storms came up. I can just imagine as the grey clouds would come rolling down, and lightening cutting through the darkness and followed by rolls of thunder and the rough water. Poems have been written about this Hudson River Valley and Catskill Mt. storms. Washington Irving describes them vividly. Mrs. Brigg's said that once the Albany's whistle was struck by lightening, and it wasn't a pleasant feeling at all. At such times, she did not have the companionship of her husband, for he had to be up at the bridge of the boat.

She also told me how many years later, they were visiting on the Potomac River, and recognized a boat, called Potomac. It seems it was the former Albany Dayliner sold to the Potomac firm which changed its name. Captain Briggs was on it for some 16 years, so told the Potomac captain he knew it well.

Mrs. Briggs remembered that for many years they did not run boats on Sunday, but later they started to have a Sunday boat run, and religious services were conducted on the boats by various ministers. They were also given hymn leaflets so that those present could sing, and musicians played for the services. As she remembers it lasted some half hour. I wish I could remember all the details which Mrs. Briggs gave me over the telephone in a friendly conversation, which I think now is all of the past and part of the history of the Hudson, and should be recorded, for those who remember, and for the coming generations.

I asked, she being the wife of a Hudson River Dayline captain, and her brother-in-law also a captain, they must have at times passed each other on boats going up or down the river. What did they do. She said, in courtesy, the boats always give a whistle salute of three to each other. That must have been thrilling, I think, two sisters, married to two captains, on the river boats. I hope Mrs. Briggs will tell me more.

I mentioned the Otis Incline Railroad to Tannersville from the Katerskill Hotel, and Mrs. Arthur Beesmer (aged 71) called me to tell me, her husband, and her brother-in-laws, Oscar and Charlie took it down around 1920. At the time she spent some two weeks in camp up there. They had an outdoor stove, ate and cooked outdoors and enjoyed the picturesque surroundings which she remembers to this day. The men tore down the Otis railway, and blasted the machinery, and it was sold for junk. Mrs. Beesmer was also with her husband at West Hurley when they were building the Reservoir, and her husband bossed the 25 horses. She often took care of the horses, and became very fond of Prince, a saddle pony, who followed her until she gave him an apple.

S. Baptists See Both Challenge, Coercion on CR

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Southern Baptists see both a challenge and what they termed an attempt to coerce the people into backing a move for more federal power in President Johnson's appeal for support of a strong civil rights bill.

The response was divided and varied from region to region.

The President told a Southern Baptist leadership seminar in Washington Wednesday that the civil rights cause "demands prophets in our time, men of compassion and truth, unafraid of the consequences of fulfilling their faith."

James Duncan of Washington, editor of the church publication Capital Baptist, said most of those present felt Johnson's statement might move Southern Baptists to do more about the problem.

"Everyone there seemed to feel he hit the nail right on the head and gave us a challenge," Duncan said.

"One hates to think the President should have to remind a denominational religious group what their responsibility is but perhaps it was needed," Duncan added.

Some Baptist leaders in Alabama didn't think so, however, Dr. George E. Bagley, executive secretary of the Baptist Executive Board and Dr. Leon Macon, president of the Alabama Baptist State Convention, said in a joint statement:

"Our President is obviously trying to coerce the people in the nation into backing his move to enlarge federal power to the point where our freedom to choose our associates and neighbors will be placed in the hands of the bureaucrats.

"'We cannot in good conscience endorse this bill. We urge the 750,000 Baptists in Alabama to study its inherent dangers, and decide for themselves."

The Southern Baptists claim 10 million members. In the words of the President, "No group of Christians has greater responsibility for civil rights."

Special Session

The Senate was marking time on the issue pending Carlino's effort in the Assembly.

Bristle at Message

Democrats and Republicans alike reacted with bristling indignation to a special message Rockefeller sent to the Legislature Tuesday urging action on the liquor bill.

The measure would repeal a state law that mandates minimum retail prices on liquor. Advocates of the bill say it would cut the price to consumers by about $1 a bottle.

In his hard-hitting messsage, Rockefeller declared that "public confidence in the integrity was at stake.

Lobbyists Galore

"'The lobbies, halls and galleries of the Legislature are jammed with liquor lobbyists pressing their special interest,'" he said. "Shall the special interests of the few prevail over those of all the people?"

The liquor industry is staunchly opposed to the Rockefeller bill, which was recommended by the Moreland Commission the governor appointed in the wake of last year's State Liquor Authority scandal.

A $12 - million appropriation necessary to implement the school-aid plan was contained in the supplemental budget bill, introduced Tuesday. The measure also reappropriates unexpended funds for a variety of legislative study committees.

A source close to the governor said it would not be unreasonable for Rockefeller to refuse to sign the measure if the lawmakers refused to take action deemed essential in the public interest.

The school-aid increase was sought avidly by rank-and-file lawmakers. It was made posssible only when Rockefeller yielded last week to their persistent demands.

Other Matters

In other legislative developments:

—Both houses passed legislation to restore the power of grand juries to issue reports that criticize public officials for misconduct that falls short of crime. Rockefeller had requested such action and his signature was assured.

— The supplemental budget bill contained $11,000 pay raises for the state education commissioner and the president of the State University. This would raise their annual salaries to $40,000 a man.

Rockefeller's special message on the liquor bills drew an angry reply from Assemblyman William C. Brennan, a Queens Democrat, who denounced it on the Assembly floor as a collllection of "half truths and total lies."

His speech attracted applause from both Democrats and Republicans. GOP members complained privately about the tone of the message.

The governor concluded the message by saying:

"'The people are watching... The people's trust in government must be maintained, for it is crucial to liberty.'"

2 Officers in Hospital

Two members of the local police department are at Kingston Hospital, it was reported today. Detective Slover was admitted for a hernia operation, and Sgt. Garvin Fisher is under treatment for a back injury. The latter was injured when he lifted a box of pistol range ammunition Wednesday in preparation for range practice today. Both were reported in satisfactory condition today.

Second Incident of Purse Grabbing Is Reported Here

A second purse snatching within the past few weeks was reported to local police today.

Ralph Countryman, of 64 Boulevard, police department garage mechanic, notified police headquarters shortly before 7 a. m. that a woman just told him that her purse had been snatched while she was on East O'Reilly Street.

Investigation revealed the owner to be Mrs. Frances Kaczor, 62, of 409 Delaware Avenue. The black leather pocketbook, she said was taken from her by a young man who ran toward Prince Street. It contained $2 and personal items. The youth, she said, wore green trousers and a black coat.

Sgt. Bernard Fowler with officers Richard Scherer, John Kennedy, Thomas Coffey, Curtis VanDemark and Weston Hoffay combed the area without result.

A purse was snatched from a woman on Jansen Avenue several weeks ago, and police caught a man a few blocks from where it had been taken.

Would Erase City Hall Influence on School Boards

Fiscal Independence Appears Doomed for State's 'Big 6'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Proposals aimed at erasing city hall influence on school board affairs in the state's six largest cities appeared doomed today in the 1964 Legislature.

The constitutional amendments, which would give fiscal independence to the school committees of the state's so-called "Big Six," were sent back to committee Wednesday night in the Assembly.

Flurry of Activity

The move was part of a flurry of activity on Capitol Hill as the lawmakers barreled toward adjournment, expected sometime today.

Assemblyman Charles D. Henderson R - Steuben County sponsor of the schoool board bills, said the cities, under local option provisions, should be permitted to determine whether they wanted independent school boards.

The proposals would have granted the Big Six power to impose taxes and handle their own financial affairs.

The cities affected by the bills are New York, Buffalo, Syracuse, Yonkers, Albany and Rochester.

Other Actions

Other legislative activity Wednesday included:

Tire Safety — Assemblyman Julius Volker, R-Erie County, sent back to committee bills that would have cut back a scheduled increase in state aid for school bus transportation. The state aid, which was increased to one-third in 1962 and two-thirds in 1963, was scheduled rise to 90 per cent next July 1. The bill proposed to cut aid to 50 per cent.

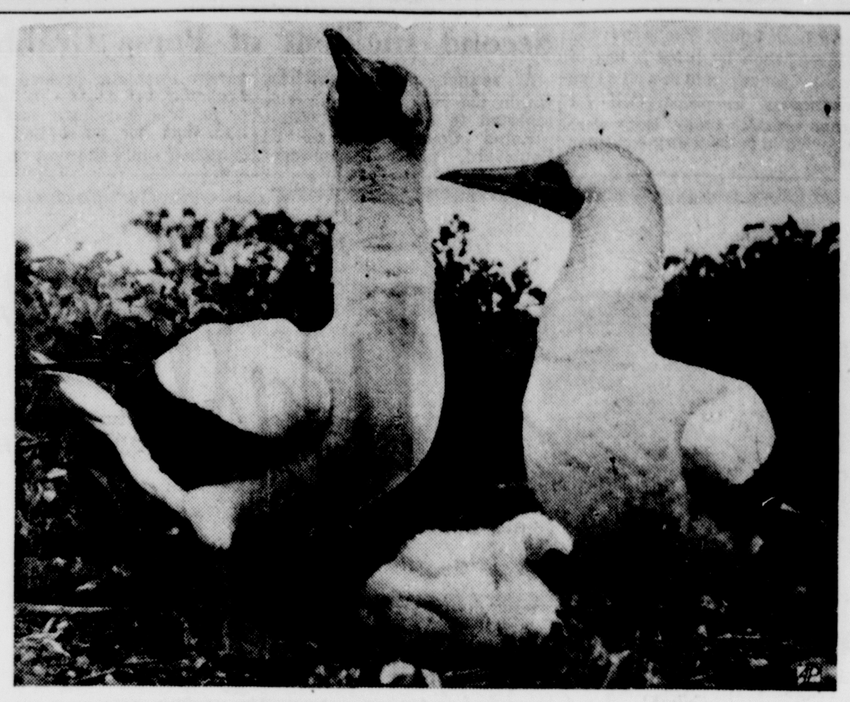

Libraries — The Assembly passsed, 122-18, and sent to the governor a bill appropriating $75,000 to establish a regional reference and research library system, on an experimental basis.

Star Spangled Banner — The Assembly gave final legislative approval to a bill creating a temporary state commisssion to commemmorate the 150th anniversary of the War of 1812 and the composition of the Star Spangled Banner. A $5,000 fund would be provided.

Trailer Trucks — The Senate voted final legislative approval for a bill to increase from 50 to 55 feet the maximum total length of tractor-trailer trucks, excluding fire trucks.

State University—A bill to establish an Albert Einstein Chair in science and an Albert Schweitzer Chair in humanities in the State University won final legislative approval in the Senate. The measure provides for establishing each of the chairs this year and adding one of each annually over the next four years, a total of 10 chairs. The bill carries an appropriation of $200,000.

Police Laboratory — The Assembly passsed and sent to the governor a bill to set up an electronics laboratory to fight crime. The bill, sponsored by the Rockefeller administration, gained approval on a vote of 130-9. The governor has allocated $100,000 to launch the program.

McMorran Flays GAO's Reasons on Holding Claims

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A federl agency has aroused the anger of New York State's public works superintendent by accusing the state of failing to document fully its claims for highway right-of-way payments.

"Insubstantial, indefensible..." were among the words J. Burch McMorran used Wednesday to describe the report to Congress by the General Accounting Office.

Critical of Administration

The GAO said earlier Wednesday that, because of deficiencies in New York State's supporting documentation, the federal government is withholding payments on claims totaling $10.7 million.

These withholdings, as of last January, applied to 53 Interstate system projects, the report said.

The report was critical of the federal Bureau of Public Roads for its administration of the federal-aid highway program in New York State.

The GAO said the bureau reported it recognized the defects in the state's right-of-way procedures but believed it was in the public interest to allow the state to proceed with acquisition of needed rights-of-way until acceptable procedures could be developed.

The accounting office said the Bureau of Public Roads had improperly approved payments for costs of privately owned utility relocations on highway projects in New York.

The report cited an examination of 36 construction projects awarded in 1958 and 1961 covering projects in New York City and Nassau and Suffolk counties. The examination disclosed that the bureau had authorized federal participation in utility relocation costs totaling $336,-500.

Cites Inadequate Controls

The GAO said the relocation costs should have been paid by the private firms.

The auditors also cited excessive use of consultant engineering firms and inadequate controls over concrete and cement operations.

The charges drew a prompt and angry reply from McMorran. The superintendent, in a statement issued from his Albany office, said of the report: "Its paucity of fact, engineering and administrative judgment and constructive proposals is matched only by its preponderance of unwarranted inferences and conclusions founded on Monday-morning hindsight."

Report Humphrey Wires Groups Not To Start Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Friends of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said today he is making no moves to build up support to get on the ticket with President Johnson as the vice presidential candidate.

In fact, sources close to Humphrey said, the Minnnesota Democrat has wired and written letters to groups in various parts of the country not to start or encourage any moves in his behalf.

Speculation has been rife, since the New Hampshire primary, on whom Johnson might pick as his runnning mate. The possibilities include Humphrey, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennnedy, Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver and others.

Humphrey was reported to have scotched effforts, a month and a half before the New Hampshire primary, to put his name on the ballot in the Oregon primary as a vice presidential candidate.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "Suspense" got off to a start Wednesday night that justified the title of the new series even if the story was one of television's perennial favorites.

The story centered on a suspicious package left in a busy metropolitan hospital with a note saying, "The world ends at 10 o'clock."

Two perspiring calm men of the police bomb squad gingerly remove the triggering mechanism—seconds before the deadline, of course. Then the major portion of the half hour was devoted to the job of disposing of the quart bottle of volatile nitroglycerine—or only harmless honey—out of the hospital to a barge in the river.

The bomb disposal business is a good dramatic gimmick even when the viewer knows from experience that all will end well.

Sebastian Cabot will serve as host for this anthology series, a job assigned apparently more to kill some time than to introduce the plots. The series doesn't seem to be anything to get very excited about, but after all, its only a stopgap to help CBS handle a trouble spot until fall. Two programs have sickened and died there since September.

"CBS Reports" has been working a year on it's D-Day anniversary program, and, with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower recalling the invasion day, will present the show on June 5, eve of the 20th anniversary date.

The program will be 90 minutes long, and show the former supreme Allied Commander revisiting World War II sites in England and France.

Recommended tonight: On NBC, "Knight's Gambit," 10-11 (Eastern Standard Time) — "Suspense Theatre" drama set in Majorca, with Chester Morris and Roger Smith, late of "77 Sunset Strip."

NEW YORK (AP)—The President's oldest daughter, Lynda Bird, 20, and her college school chum, Warrie Lynn Smith, 19, are here on a three-day spring vacation, featuring theater-going.

The two girls, who share a White House room together, planned to see three Broadway shows on their trip—musicals "Hello, Dolly," and "110 in The Shade," and a comedy, "Barefoot in The Park."

West Park Home Is Included in Charities Plan

The ever-mounting incidence, over the past 25 years, of severe emotional problems among dependent and neglected children referred to Catholic child care institutions including St. Cabrini Home in West Park, has necessitated the development of highly specialized and costly programs to meet their needs, New York Catholic Charities reports in a review of its activities under the presidency of Francis Cardinal Spellman who this year celebrates his silver jubilee as Archbishop of New York.

Psychiatrists, psychologists, therapists and remedial educators have been added to the personnel of the homes; staff education and development have been stressed; recreational and occupational activities have been increased; large congregate institutions have been converted at great expense into the cottage-type system with group parents, and efforts have been intensified to rehabilitate the children's own homes so they may be reunited with their parents.

Expansion of Facilities

Between 1939 and 1964, the report notes, the child care agencies coordinated under Catholic Charities expended $34,660,500 on the modernization and expansion of their facilities.

St. Cabrini Home which cares for dependent and neglected girls between the ages of 3 and 16, last year had 220 girls. The home is the first charitable institution in the United States to be founded by America's first citizen saint, St. Francis Xavier Cabrini. A school including eight elementary grades, is conducted on the property which embraces 550 acres overlooking the Hudson River. It is staffed by the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart, the religious order of women founded by St. Cabrini to minister to the needs of the Italian immigrants in the United States.

New York Catholic Charities currently conducting its 45th annual fund appeal, last year provided shelter and care for 4,515 dependent children through its affiliated child care institutions.

Bulldozer Tack Aids to Slam

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The subject of scientific bidding recalls to me one of my favorite hands. The game was rubber bridge. I was sitting North and playing with Mrs. Jacoby against two very fine players. We were vulnerable and they were not.

I opened one diamond in the third seat and East jumped to four hearts. Mrs. Jacoby bid four spades and West went to five hearts.

It was up to me to act, and I had quite a problem. Obviously Mrs. Jacoby held the king of spades, and I was quite certain that she also held the diamond king. It would have been far too dangerous for her to go to four spades on a broken suit if she did not have a diamond fit in reserve.

Hence, it appeared that we had a rather easy grand slam provided I could stop a heart lead. How could I do that?

Should I bid six hearts and go to seven spades later? West was too smart for that. He would say to himself. "Why did Jacoby cue bid hearts if he intended to bid seven all the time?" Out would come a heart!

Should I bid five spades and let them push me to six? They would probably defend anyway and if I went on to seven I would still get that heart lead.

Finally, the winning bid occurred to me. I jumped right to seven spades.

West thought about his opening lead for a long time. He finally decided that I would not have made the bid with a heart loser, so he opened a club. Mrs. Jacoby ruffed, drew trumps, discarded her losing heart on a diamond and made the grand slam.

Mishap on Takeoff

The passengers, including many women and children, were evacuated from the DC8 down emergency chutes. Airport firemen sprayed the aircraft with foam.

Rotary Elects Directors, Sends Note to Greece

Kingston Rotary Club elected four new directors and sent a message of condolence to Greece on the death of King Paul at its weekly luncheon-meeting Wednesday:

The four new directors are Edwin B. Bolz, Frank D. Hornbeek, Dale B. Lake and Charles Talleur.

Frederic Snyder presented the Rev. Nicholas Katsoulis, pastor of the local Greek Community, with the following expression from the local service club to the Rotary Clubs of Greece on the death of their beloved king:

Rotary Club of Kingston,
New York, U.S.A.

TO: Rotarian Andrew Georgalas
District Governor 197
Rotary International
Athens, Greece

Dear Governor Georgalas:

Will you kindly act as a courant in relaying to all the Rotarians this word of earnest sympathy, in the passing of your Noble King Paul.

He wore with distinction your Royal Crown. His life was crowned by lofty achievements. Be assured eternity will establish enduring rewards for his fidelity to the Rotary motto "He profits most who serves best."

We must ever letter out the word King to give the name of our city—Kingston. May you strive to provide devotional service to God and to our King, to the end that many more pages may be added to the ancient history of Greece, to the glory of Rotary and the honor of your country.

Jews to Hear Mexican

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Francisco Jewish congregation will hear the ancient prayers of Judaism sung at Passover by a small Mexican Indian boy.

He is Yusua Baltasar Laureano Ramirez-Resendiz, 10, who traces his faith to ancestors forced to flee Spain during the 15th century inquisition.

Since the age of 3, the boy has been chanting Jewish liturgy in a tiny Mexico City synagogue, where his father, a lawyer, serves as lay rabbi.

HISTORICAL COMMUNION BEAKER — At the Maundy Thursday service of Holy Communion tonight 7:30 p. m. at Old Dutch Church early church beakers will be used. The beakers are brought back for this service from the Metropolitan Museum, New York City. One of them, made by Julian Blanck Jr. was presented to the church in 1683 by Queen Anne and bears the inscription in Dutch, "A token of love and truth to the church in Kingston Anno 1683." The other made by Benjamin Wynkoop bears the date 1711 and was bought for the church with excise money. New members will be received at the service. The senior choir will present anthems from the Lenten Cantata Lamb of God by D. H. Williams under the direction of Albert J. Zabel, minister of music. The Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool will deliver the communion meditation. John E. Withers, seminary associate will assist in the service.

Skunk Still Free Between House Walls

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Humane Society tangled with a skunk Wednesday at the Weyerhaeuser Co. in St. Louis. The battle continues.

John Daniels, a Weyerhaeuser employe, said the skunk found its way into the space between the outside wall of the building and the inside.

Humane Society officers sprayed ammonia into the space between the walls.

"The skunk sprayed back," Daniels said.

The humane society then set a cage trap between the walls. But the skunk is still free.

All-Time Record Cash Robbery

Anglo Jury Convicts 9 For Role in $7,345,000 Glasgow-London Job

AYLESBURY, England (AP) —A jury found nine men guilty today on charges of taking part in Britain's great train robbery —the theft of $7,345,000 from the Glasgow-London mail train last Aug. 8.

A 10th man was found guilty of conspiring to obstruct the course of justice.

Sentencing Deferred

Judge Edmund Davies said he would defer sentencing the convicted men until after the trial of eight other persons accused of complicity in the giant money snatch, the largest cash robbery in the annals of world crime.

The eight awaiting trial — including threee women — were granted separate trials when the case was brought to court in January. Another defendant pleaded guilty and still another got a directed verdict of acquittal during the trial.

The police have so far recovered only 258,000 pounds ($722,400- of the loot and are still loooking for the gang's masterminds, who are believed to be in possession of the balance.

Commando-Like Raid

The haul was made in a commando-like raid on the London-bound mail train after it was stopped by a false red signal at a hamlet near Aylesbury.

Most of the money was in five-pound notes being transferred from banks in Scotland to banks in the British capital.

The trial began Jan. 20 and lasted nine weeks, an unusual length for a British criminal trial. Judge Davies took five days to deliver his summation.

The jury's three-day deliberation was the longest such session in England since 1670, when a jury was kept locked up for two days without food and water but refused to convict William Penn of preaching to an unlawful asssembly of Quakers.

The Aylesbury jury suffered no such privations. But Judge Davies, after a juror reported last week that he had beeen offered a bribe, decreed that their whereabouts while deliberating should be kept secret, they should have no accesss to radios, television sets, newspapers and phone calls, and their families should be put under police guard.

Defendants found guilty of conspiring to rob the train were:

Those Found Guilty

Roger J. Cordrey, 42, a florist of East Molesey, Surrey; William Boal, 50, engineer, of London; Charles F. Wilson, 31, and Thomas W. Wisbey, 33, both London bookies; James Hussey, 30, housepainter, London; Leonard D. Field, 31, merchant seaman, London; Douglas G. Goody, 34, barber, London; Brian A. Field, 29, clerk, Whitechurch Hill, Oxfordshire; and Roy J. James, 28, silversmith and auto racing driver, London.

John D. Wheater, 41, a lawyer of Ashstead, Surrey; was found innocent on the robbery charge but guilty of conspiring to obstruct the course of justice.

Visitors to Rome For Eastertide HearPope'sWords

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI, addressing himself to tourists who flock by the thousands to Rome for Easter, Wednesday urged them to become devout pilgrims too.

Speaking in his weekly general audience, Pope Paul remarked that Easter was approaching.

"We would like to urge you all to take profit of your presence in Rome during this highest Christian holiday and penetrate even better into the spirit of this great liturgical celebration and participate even more deeply to the sentiments, the rites and the mystery of our redemption."

Dear Abby . . .

You Struck Out, Honey!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in the eighth grade and I like a boy in my home room. I called him up last night and told him that a girl friend of mine wanted his picture, but she was too bashful to ask him for it, so I was asking for her. He said he was sorry but he didn't have any more. Then I called him back and told him that the picture really wasn't for a girl friend, it was for me, and maybe he could dig one up. He said he didn't have any more and he wouldn't know where to dig one up from. Then I called him back again to ask him what page our history assignment started on, but this time his mother answered the phone and told me to quit bothering him. I feel terrible. Should I call him up and apologize for bothering him?

FEELS TERRIBLE

DEAR FEELS: No! This boy has your number. Forget his!

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am not mentioning any names and if you print this, please don't use mine, but what do you think of a husband who is not man enough to speak his own mind? He and his wife have worked out "signals" between them. When they are at a party and HE wants to go home, he either mops his brow with a handkerchief or crosses his legs, and then SHE suggests that it is late and they should be heading for home.

"ON TO THEM"

DEAR "ON": I think they're wonderful. I didn't know teamwork like that still existed.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my daughter. She is 29 so I can't tell her what to do, but she is still my daughter and I worry about her. Abby, she is five feet five, and I will be the first to admit that she was overweight, but she is big-boned, like I am, and she never looked as heavy as she was. She weighed 255 last July. That's when she started going to this doctor who specializes in reducing people. She lost 60 pounds and she's still dieting. I have begged her to stop before she kills herself, but she doesn't listen to me. Abby, please, as one mother to another, help me save my daughter.

TEARS IN MY EYES

DEAR TEARS: Unless my subtraction is wrong, your daughter still weighs 195 pounds! She has to lose another 60 before she's in the proper weight range for her height. Trust the doctor, and don't demoralize your daughter. Calories are tough enough to battle without the additional burden of an hysterical mother.

Loses Bonn Cross For Nazi Record

BONN, Germany (AP) — A high Bonn decoration, awarded to a convicted German war criminal, Wednesday was ordered taken from him after Communist press reports had pointed out his Nazi past.

Former SS Maj. Heinrich Buetefisch had been sentenced by an American war crimes court to six years in prison for using concentration camp inmates as slave laborers. He received the Grand Cross of the Federal Order of Merit last month for helping rebuild German industry.

Then reports on his background were published in the East German Communist press.

Rising GOP Vote Tied To Changes in Dixie

By DON MCKEE

ATLANTA (AP) — Emergencence of a two-party South is reflected in new laws or proposed changes of election procedures linked to the rising Republican vote.

Southern Democrats, secure in their one-party system, once scoffed at the Republican practice of nominating by convention; this, they said, produced only hand-picked candidates.

Trying to Force Primaries

Now they've quit scoffing and began enacting laws aimed at forcing the Republicans to hold primary elections and quit voting in the Democratic primaries.

Most Republicans still gain nomination without fighting through primary campaigns, but signs are appearing that the day of the two-party primary is nearing.

A law aimed at the GOP was approved this year by the South Carolina Legislature. Three other Southern state legislatures will consider new election laws. The other states already have tightened primary rules.

Drastic measures have been proposed in Mississippi—on the heels of a startling Republican vote of 38 per cent in last year's race for governor.

One proposal would require a primary election even if a candidate is unopposed. This would hit Republicans who avoid primaries in Mississippi by running only one candidate per office.

Others to Act

In Louisiana, State Rep. Lanz Womack, a Democrat, said he would ask the Legislature in its May session to abolish all primaries and require two general elections instead. Republicans nominate by convention in Louisiana.

Georgia lawmakers will consider revision of election laws in a May special session. Proposals include a requirement that all parties hold primaries the same date.

"This would prevent anyone from voting in more than one primary," said Secretary of State Ben Fortson, a Democrat.

Under Georgia law, the GOP nominates by convention.

Britisher, 100, Is New U. S. Citizen

The new citizen, Nicholas Latimer Charles Martindale, took the oath before U.S. District Court Judge J. Robert Elliott.

Martindale came to Columbus in 1953 to live with Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Haig. Haig is his foster son.

Martindale said he decided to become a citizen "to recognize the friendship, comradeship and kindnesss of the people of Georgia and my son and daughter."

He was born in 1864 near London and has lived in the United States for 75 years.

One year ago — The United States and Russia resumed talks in Washington on the Berlin question that had been interrupted by the Cuban crisis of 1962.

Ex-Marine Pilot Will Ask Favor of Khrush

WICHITA FALLAS, Tex. (AP) An ex-Marine fighter pilot has asked Soviet Premier Khrushchev for permission to fly his private airplane over part of the Soviet Union.

Tom Danaher, 39, a Wichita Falls automobile dealer, will go to Kyushu, Japan, in mid-April to take possession of a twin-engined amphibian plane. He estimates he can save a week's flying time if he flies home via Siberia and Alaska rather than over India, Europe and Newfoundland.

Danaher cannot fly directly across the Pacific because the plane has a range of only 600 miles.

LIKE A HOUSE OF CARDS—In describing his system for erecting apartment buildings, a Redwood City, Calif., builder says it's like building a card house, as these photos show. The only thing is that each card weighs from 10 to 12 tons. All of the 750 concrete slabs used in these apartment buildings were cast at the site, and were raised into position. It's more expensive than conventional building, but lowers maintenance costs.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSSOCIATED PRESS

Easter hams are the seasonal feature at most of the nation's supermarkets this weekend with many shops cutting the price.

One nationwide chain offers hams at 29 cents a pound for the shank, 35 cents for the butt, 43 cents for whole or half shank and 49 cents for whole or half butt.

Beef is giving competition to ham and other pork products however, as the pressure of fed cattle marketings continue to hold down wholesale prices.

The outlook is for beef marketings to slow down later this spring, however, and market analysts are saying this is a good time to stock up freezers.

At meat counters of a big Eastern supermarket chain, rib roast is being offered at 69 cents a pound, off 10 cents from last week, and veal chops at 95 cents, off 6 cents.

Turkeys also are being featured.

There are plenty of eggs and dairy products available.

Onions, apples and oranges are especially good buys. Listed as good buys are green beans, cabbage, carrots, celery, potatoes, avocados, bananas, grapefruit and strawberries.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—A run on the U.S. Treasury's silver dollars, plus heavy demand for the new Kennedy half-dollars, may help send the metal's price still higher.

Industrial users here have been paying the full legal monetary value of $1.293 an ounce for some time. In London the spot price is $1.302 an ounce.

And now traders, influenced by the new demand for silver coins, are bidding silver future contracts well above the monetary value.

The cartwheel contains 0.77 of an ounce of silver. At $1.29 an ounce this makes the silver in a metal dollar worth $1 in the metal market.

The price has climbed from 91.6 cents an ounce in 1961 chiefly because worldwide demand for coinage, electronic and other industrial uses, has been running well above world production. The U.S. Treasury's once huge store has dropped sharply.

Now the United States is slowly redeeming outstanding silver certificates — redeemable in silver dollars—to be replaced by Federal Reserve notes. The Treasury wants to use the rest of its fast dwindling hoard of the metal for minting smaller coins. The demand for them has been growing smartly, with spot shortages in various regions from time to time.

Also Prized Elsewhere

The run on silver dollars at the Treasury was sparked by the dwindling supply of the cartwheels, no longer minted. A bill to require the Treasury to resume such coinage was turned down Tuesday in the House. Silver dollars are used largely in the West, but are now being prized elsewhere.

Demand for smaller silver coins is up markedly because of the increase in vending machines and in turnstile and in various other slot devices. Electronics, and lately space age instruments, call for more and more of the metal. An affluent society is buying more silver household and jewelry items.

In the United States production of silver is now down slightly to 35 million ounces a year. Despite higher prices here, imports also are off and now run around 30 million ounces a year.

The Treasury has been selling silver to industrial users at the monetary value of $1.293 an ounce by redeeming silver certificates for bullion.

Silver counts for a little more than one per cent of our money supply, the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, reports today in its bimonthly review. It holds that silver "could scarcely be an instrument of monetary policy." Its thesis is that "the strength of our money supply rests, not on the amount of metal in stock, but on confidence that a stable relation will be maintained between money and the output of goods and services in the economy."

Blame Freak Wave For Boat Tragedy

BOYNTON BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A huge, freak wave capsized a 65-foot boat as it returned from a day of sport fishing and pitched 20 persons into Boynton Beach inlet only a short distance from shore.

Four persons were killed, four were hospitalized and one is missing.

The survivors—ranging from teen-agers to elderly couples—struggled to shore or were rescued by other craft Wednesday in the inlet, which is near Palm Beach 65 miles north of Miami.

Fishermen said the wave apparently formed on a sandbar, gathered speed and size before it struck the boat, a charter fishing vessel called the Two Georges. It whipped her around 90 degrees and flipped her over on the left side. The craft sank as it was being towed.

The boat's captain estimated the wave was 18 feet high.

One survivor, Jerry Hopkins of New Carlisle, Ohio, said no one on the boat was wearing a life preserver.

Ernest Whitman, 70, of East Boston, Mass., survived. His wife died.

Another victim, Louis Pollata of Medford, N.J., was a friend of Whitman's. The other victims were Ernest Jeffries of Boynton Beach and Harry Williams of Lyndhurst, Ohio.

The missing youth, Jerry Sapp, 17, of Fort Lauderdale, also was a friend of Whitman's.

Columbia County Resident Happy To Aid Goldwater

ARCHIE C. LEBRECHT

Archie C. Lebrecht of Valatie, in announcing his candidacy as an alternate delegate to the Republican National Convention from the 28th Congressional District, pledged to Senator Barry Goldwater, made the following statement:

"I am proud and happy to be associated with efforts to nominate and elect Barry Goldwater as President of the United States. In an atmosphere of Bobby Bakers and McCloskeys, Senator Goldwater shines as a beacon; representing principles, not promises; integrity, not images; stability, not vacillation. I believe he can offer programs our legislators can endorse and implement; forward-moving policies promoting individual freedom and initiative, and restoring our international respect, friendship and integrity; not the warmed over CCC's, WPA's, big brother concepts which solved no problem 30 years ago and will solve none today.

"Headquarters for Columbia County Republicans for Goldwater will open in Chatham on April 4. Chatham has been chosen as it will enable us to serve all surrounding townships and their Republican voters. We welcome all Republicans to aid us in obtaining the nomination for Senator Goldwater, and thus offering our fellow citizens a true choice of policies, not merely of degree."

Lebrecht is vice president of Interstate Commodities, Inc., of Troy, a lifelong resident of Columbia County, and a past county commander of the American Legion.

Convict Muslims Of Misdemeanors

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Fifteen Black Muslims, who engaged in a brawl with police more than a year ago, were convicted today on charges of third-degree assault and unlawful assembly, both misdemeanors. They were acquitted of a felony charge of riot.

An all-white Monroe County Court jury of ten men and two women found four other Black Muslims innocent of riot, assault and unlawful assembly charges. The jury deliberated more than seven hours.

The trial, which began March 2, was the fourth for 15 of the defendants. They were arrested after the brawl in January 1963.

Triplets the Thing

NEWARK, N.Y. (AP)—A 32-year-old woman gave birth today to triplets in Newark-Wayne Community Hospital, two days after a mother of four added three sons to her family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Payne of nearby Walworth became parents of two girls and a boy.

The triplet boys were born in the same hospital Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scotts of nearby Lyons.

The six new arrivals were reported in good condition.

Tanker Skipper Saw War Service, Captain 15 Years

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP)—Harold J. Titus, skipper of the American tanker San Jacinto which split in half today after an explosion in the Atlantic, is a veteran of World War II service in the Merchant Marine.

Titus, 39, of nearby Pine City, has been a sea captain since 1949. He served aboard tankers while in the Merchant Marine.

He is married.

A sister, Mrs. Norman Stage, lives in Cadyville, N.Y.

When told that her husband remained aboard the stern half of the tanker, Mrs. Titus commented:

"That was typical—the ship was his baby."

Mrs. Titus is the former Jane Reeder of Topeka, Kan. She is the mother of his two sons, Patrick, 11, and Michael, 15.

She said she had not seen Titus since September, when he was on leave for two months.

Assembly Kills Rocky's Plan to Repeal Full-Crew

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's program bill to repeal the state's railroad full crew laws, on his list of "must" legislation, was killed officially in the Asssembly today.

The action had been anticipated throughout the session because of strong opposition by organized labor to repeal the laws setting the minimum size of crews that must be assigned to trains.

As the Assembly opened its final meeting of the 1964 session, R. Watson Pomeroy, R-Dutchesss, sponsor of the repeal bill, rose and moved that it be returned to committee.

His motion carried unanimously and without debate. The removal of the bill from the last day's calendar meant it was dead.

Back on Fair Jobs

NEW YORK (AP)—Operating engineers who waged a one-day wildcat walkout at the New York World's Fair returned to their jobs today.

The walkout had halted deliveries and delayed some construction work at the exposition, scheduled to open April 22.

Details of the settlement, reached Wednesday night, were not disclosed.

MOVING TO BROWN STATION—The New York City Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, which has occupied offices in the Burgevin Building at Fair and Main Streets since August 1, 1917, is moving its offices to the new city constructed "Ben Nesin" Laboratory Building at the "head-works" at Brown Station. After Friday the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity will be housed on the second floor of the new two-story lab building. The ground floor and a portion of the basement is occupied by the City of New York Laboratory which has under its jurisdiction the testing of the reservoir water. The Ben Nesin Laboratory is named for the late Benjamin Nesin, who until his recent death was in charge of all New York City water works laboratory work. Prior to moving to the new building the 'lab" was located in one of the tenant houses at Brown Station after being moved from the gate-house many years ago. The D.W.S.G. & E. Department has occupied the offices in the Burgevin Building ever since the Ashokan Reservoir operation was turned over to that department by the Board of Water Supply in 1917. Johan Aalto is engineer in charge of the local office.

Key Victory

Juries Assured Of Presentments

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Grand juries in New York State appeared virtually certain today to regain the authority to criticize public officials for misconduct that falls short of crime.

The Legislature voted Wednesday to restore the traditional practice of grand jury presentments — reports that focus on activities of public servants.

The bill is one of the highlights of Gov. Rockefeller's legislative program, and his approval was regarded as a formality.

The bill represents compromise between viewpoints of GOP assemblymen and senators who took part in its drafting.

It provides that:

—Grand juries may issue reports that criticize public officials by name, provided the misconduct is sufficient to warrant removal from office or other disciplinary action.

—The accused official has a right to appear before the grand jury and may issue a statement that must be made public at the same time as the report.

—The judge to whom the report is submitted may order it suppressed if it does not meet all standards.

Final passage of the bill was regarded as a victory for law-enforcement and newspaper groups, that have been pressing for restoration of the presentment power since 1961. In that year, the Court of Appeals held there was no legal authority to support the traditional practice.

Police said it is believed the ring accounted for the theft of cargoes valued at more than $250,000.

Investigators said the trailers taken in the thefts were dismantled and sent to Rochester, N.Y., for resale. They said some of the stolen equipment turned up in Canada.

Local News of 15 Years Ago: aMrch, 1949—Victor Dunnegan who died March 7 in Kingston was one of the few living residents of the Shokan-Boiceville Hill Road section whose early years antedated the beginning of Ashokan Reservoir operations. One of three children of the late Ogden and Catherine DuBois Dunnagan, his entire life was closely associated with the family farm overlooking the Esopus Creek. Though partially crippled and lacking the use of one arm, he nevertheless for 40 years plowed, sowed and reaped on the family hillside acres with a courageous fortitude and self-reliance such as is not often found in these days. Victor, who never married, not only cut, hauled and put up his own firewood, he even sold and delivered wood to the villagers, and would plow their gardens, too.

25-Day Semesters

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — Radar picket patrol in the North Pacific is a lonely duty, but sailors aboard the Pearl Harbor-based USS Newell put their long hours to good use. Some already have earned credits toward bachelors' degrees. Semesters run during each 25-day picket patrol and are discontinued when the ship returns to port. It takes two or three patrols to complete most courses.

Ruby Is Willing To Take Stand During New Trial

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Jack Ruby's new chief attorney said today Ruby has agreed to take the stand if he is given a new trial for the slaying of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Dr. Hubert W. Smith, director of the Law-Science Institute of the University of Texas Law School, became Ruby's chief attorney Tuesday night. Ruby fired Melvin Belli, and Percy Foreman of Houston quit the case because of diffferences with the Ruby family.

Smith said today he would seek a new trial for Ruby on the basis that Judge Joe B. Brown erred in not transferring Ruby's first trial from Dallas. A Dallas jury sentenced him to death. Ruby did not testify.

Smith, chancellor of the Law-Science Academy of America, said he hopes to "mobilize through the academy" the necessary funds to pay expenses of the new trial.

He said he would not charge for his services. Smith said Ruby is bankrupt and his family is not wealthy.

NEW YORK (AP)—Conservative Party opposition to Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating is growing, and there are indications the party may run a candidate against him when he seeks re-election next November, a party spokesman says.

The Democratic candidate—whoever he may be—would be helped considerably by entry of a candidate of the freshman Conservative Party, which drew its membership mostly from Republican ranks.

J. Daniel Mahoney, chairman of the Conservative Party, said Wednesday that the party's antipathy to Keating is "getting worse every day."

man in the Conservative leadership, said the party's differences with the senator from Rochester are "virtually irreconcilable."

Former Bootlegger Running for Sheriff

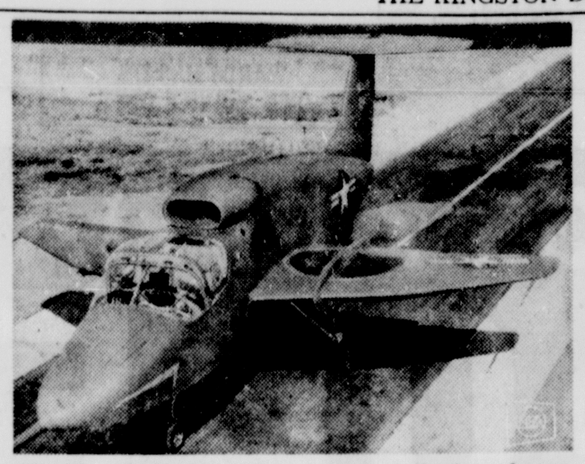

ANTLERS, Okla. (AP) — A candidate for sheriff of Pushmataha County says that just as he once ran "'one of the largest and most modern liquor stills" in the state, he's determined to "'have the very best of all possible law enforcement."

Ernest Moore, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, says in a leaflet on his candidacy: "I do not contend to be an angel."

The leaflet says he was "convicted of concealing one of the largest and most modern stills ever seized in the state of Oklahoma.

"It was wrong and I repent for my wrongdoings. Even though it was illegal I had the best. If I am elected to the sheriff's office, I will be determined to have the very best of all possible law enforcement."

The powerful Akita dog of Japan can pull heavier sledge loads than most huskies and is ideally suited to subzero weather since his double coat changes thickness with the climate.

UP AND AWAY—At last it has happened: the Army has an airplane they think combines the good points of both a helicopter and a jet plane. It is called the XV-5A lift-fan jet V/STOL (vertical and short take-off and landing) and is shown here at Edwards Air Force Base. The butterfly-type doors mounted on the upper wing surfaces cover fans. These fans provide the vertical lift. They are powered by the exhaust from the jet engines. The plane is capable of taking off from an area no larger than a tennis court and cruise at high speed.

House Rejects Move to Block Hanscom Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has rejected an attempt to block funds for an electronics research center in the Boston area.

The NASA Electronics Research center has been a controversial subject for two years. It would cost $50 million to $60 million eventually.

Some New York members of Congress have agreed that the center should be built at Hanscom Field, Bedford, Mass., but they asked that the Air Force's electronics systems division be moved to Rome, N.Y., in return.

That suggestion was protested by Massachusetts members of Congress Tuesday.

Yesterday, Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-Ill., proposed to strike a $10 million construction authorization for the NASA center from the $5.2 billion space authorization bill. The move was defeated 116-66.

Names in the News

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)— Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said in Cambridge, Mass., that the past year has brought more progress in recognizing Negroes' rights "than in the previous 100 years."

But, he told his audience at Harvard Law School, "every inch of it will be lost" if the nation does not provide more jobs for Negroes.

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Richard M. Nixon said in Karachi that Pakistan's President Mohammmed Ayub Khan "remains a genuine friend and strong ally of the United States."

After a long talk and luncheon with Ayub, the former U.S. vice president said "any talk of Ayub's being taken in by the Chinese Communists or by neutralism is bunk."

WASHINGTON (AP) —Ralph M. Larue, 44-year-old Columbus, Ohio, railroader, was named in Washington as "'locomotive fireman of 1963" for saving the life of a 2-year-old girl.

Last July 31 Larue saw little Shirley Ward of Greenville, Ohio, walking on the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line. Knowing the 89-car freight could not be stopped in time, Larue ran to the front of the locomotive, leaned forward and swept the tot clear of the track.

Larue had his name added to a silver trophy and received $500 from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

Will Face Charge Of 50 Burglaries

WARREN CENTER, Pa. (AP) — Alvin B. Colegrove, 36, will be arraigned today before a justice of the peace on charges of committing more than 50 burglaries since last fall.

State police arrested Colegrove Wednesday in a house in this Bradford County community.

They said he carried a .32 caliber automatic pistol when he was apprehended. Police found a rifle, shotgun, several pistols and knives in the house.

They said Colegrove, discharged from Graterford Prison last Oct. 11 after serving 10 years for two burglaries and larceny of a car, told them he had burglarized places all over northeastern Pennsylvania and around Owego, N.Y. He said he had broken into a house near Blakely Corners Tuesday and stole a car near Hazleton to come home.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Bejabbers! Corn Beef and Cabbage

CORNED BEEF and Cabbage for St. Patrick's Day.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Corned beef is the traditional meat served on St. Patrick's Day. That can go for canned corned beef hash, too, particularly when served with tender cabbage wedges.

Corned Beef Loaf With Cabbage Wedges
(6 servings)

3 cans (1 pound each) corned beef hash
1 medium cabbage, cut in 6 wedges
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Green pepper shamrock

Pack corned beef hash into 8x4x2¾-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 minutes. Place cabbage wedges in large skillet with tight-fitting cover. Sprinkle with instant minced onion and salt: add water and dot with butter. Simmer covered, over medium heat 5 to 10 minutes or until crisp-tender. Turn corned beef loaf onto large serving platter; surround with cabbage wedges and garnish with green pepper shamrock. Serve with Piquant Sauce*.

 Piquant Sauce
(¾ cup sauce)

½ cup chili sauce
¼ cup pickle relish
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon Tabasco

Woodstock Library Service Well Above National Average

Library service to the residents of Woodstock township is well above the national average based on statistics compiled by the United States Office of Education.

The office estimated that for the year 1963 less than one third of the nation's nearly 190 million people received satisfactory library service.

In the state of Massachusetts, which ranks highest in per capita tax support for public library service in the country, more than one half of the libraries operated on annual budgets of less than $6,000 and were opened less than 20 hours a week.

Small libraries represented 70 per cent of tthe 81,900 public libraries in the United States and served less than 10,000 persons each.

Woodstock library budgeted $13,500 for the year 1964 to serve a population of 3,836 (U.S. Census, 1960). It is open 24 hours each week of the year. There is a minimum of two librarians on duty, more frequently three during peak rush hours on Fridays and Saturdays.

Other Factors

There are other factors involved. Woodstock Library, for instance, was prevented from competing in the National Book-of-the-Month Club Awards, based specifically on outstanding community support, because it derives 22 per cent of its support from tax monies or public funds. The American Library Association which determines most of the averages for community performance and sets the standards for the competition states flatly that community support means a minimum of 50 per cent from tax monies.

A comparison between Woodstock Library and that in Pasadena, Calif. reveals some interesting figures. Pasadena's library exceeds all other public libraries in the country. It had a 1960 population of 116,407 and a city quite likely to support temporary fluctuations in population from tourists or seasonal residents.

Pasadena Library was found to spend $5.75 per capita for library service and had an average circulation of 12 books per inhabitant. Woodstock will spend $3.51 per capita and had an average circulation of 14.1 books per inhabitant in 1963. Monthly circulation was over 4100 in 1963, with the months of March, October and November running almost as high and in one instance higher than the months of June, July and August.

Refuting a Chestnut

These statistics are quoted in order to refute the oft-cited chestnut that summer readers distort the library's circulation and month-to-month use. March circulation was 5,143 because a maximum number of term papers were researched at the library. Quite frequently, students read as much or more than the adults. This is quite normal, since more than 50 per cent of book borrowings in the United States are made by children.

Returning to national averages, libraries expended 70 per cent of budgeted funds for salaries and 16 per cent for books, magazines and other library materials. Paradoxically, Woodstock Library fails to measure up to such figures, being on the one hand sub-standard and on the other abundantly generous. The local library budgeted .529 per cent for salaries and 22 per cent for books and magazines without other library materials.

Library Week Ahead

It may be, as library spokesman pointed out, that the people of Woodstock should not be too self-congratulatory regarding all these figures. Ten years ago when Mrs. Lynn Wells became chief librarian, the annual circulation was a trifle over 20,000. In 1963, the total annual circulation was 54,163.

The town of Woodstock and the many friends of the library elsewhere can read and judge how well the community is served, consider the loyalties and responsibilities which attach to such an organization.

In the weeks leading up to April 12 to April 18, currently set aside to celebrate National Library Week, the glorious discrepancies, the curious analogies, the peculiar problems implied in the foregoing facts and figures will be further explored in an effort to clarify the position, importance and special significance of Woodstock's Library.

Apportionment Under Study by Women's League

Since last fall, members of the League of Women Voters throughout New York state have begun the study of apportionment, the Woodstock League reported today. Apportionment is the manner in which a number of representatives are assigned to the various electorial or other regions of a state or nation.

Few problems of state government recur so persistently as the apportionment of legislative representation, the League states.

At a recent meeting of the Woodstock League of Women Voters, the Apportionment Workshop gave its first report to the membership outlining various methods of apportionment being used in the United States today.

A popular method used in figuring an apportionment formula for one or both houses of state legislatures is population. There are several ways of determining population counts. First there is straight or actual population count; second qualified voter count; and third, actual voter count.

Population Best

The majority of states that base apportionment on population agree that actual population numbers are the most practical basis of apportionment. There are, however, several problems connected with this method. Actual population figures are available from the U.S. Bureau of Census at ten year intervals. Certified final figures are usually available early in the year following census taking. This May cause a delay in reapportionment if the legislature is the apportioning body, since the figures may become available late in the legislative year. Some states solve this problem by using preliminary census data. This permits a reasonable apportionment based on actual population at the earliest possible moment.

Another item to be considered is the exclusion of certain peoples when arriving at an actual population formula. The most common exclusions are aliens, non-taxable Indians and people in certain institutions such as federal prisons. Some or all of these appear in many state constitutions.

Other Criteria

If a state uses qualified voters as its basis for a population apportionment formula it must then decide who is a qualified voter. They may use a percentage of the population over 21 years of age, as does Texas who assumes that 85 per cent of all residents over 21 are eligible voters. Using actual voters has a definite advantage, the figures are readily available and could provide information for apportionment more often than 10 years. There are also disadvantages to this method worth considering: 1. There is no stability in this figure. 2. Metropolitan areas with their mobile population could be penalized under this system. 3. It must be decided if one individual vote should be given more weight just because he voted and others in his district did not. 4. Finally, should actual figures used be taken from a presidential election; a non-presidential election; or should an average of the two elections be used?

Arizona has solved this last problem by basing their apportionment formula on actual voters determined every two years after each gubernatorial election.

Several other methods of apportionment were explained which will be outlined in future reports.

Henri Paintings In New York Show

The Chapeller Gallery of 21 East 75th Street in New York City, exclusive agents for the paintings of the Robert Henri Estate have announced a major restrospective show from March 28 to April 30.

Forty one of Henri's works in various media, including oils, inks, crayon, pen, monotype will be shown.

Henri, who was identified with the early Woodstock art colony, was born in Cincinnati in 1865 and died in 1929. His paintings are in the permanent collections of at least 50 of the major museums in the United States. Many of the paintings in the present show have been in major exhibitions in this country and abroad, some were in the Robert Henri Memorial Exhibition of 1931 at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Like many of the great artists, Henri's influence as an instructor was immeasurable. The enrollment in one class alone included George Bellows, Edward Hopper, Walter Pach, Glenn Coleman, Rockwell Kent, Arnold Friedman, Gifford Beal and Homer Boss. Other students were Stuart Davis, John Sloan, George Luks, Everett Shinn and Guy Pene du Bois. As early as 1917, "Who's Who in Art" listed well over 100 Henri students, many already teachers across the country, inspiring succeeding generations with the Henri philosophy.

Mrs. Carle Hosts AFS Trip Group

Mrs. Harry W. Carle, American Abroad Coordinator of the Onteora Chapter AFS, will head the committee, assisted by the Junior and Senior Student Council of OCS, to host the AFS bus trip group that will visit the Onteora Central Schools District area from July 7 through July 10.

This is a dividend trip, following the school year, organized by the AFS of New York to broaden the foreign students picture of the United States. Volunteer groups across the nation are hosts for several days of this three week period. From past reports, this has been a rewarding experience for the Americans they meet and live with, the AFS says.

Homes will be needed for 44 students and two chaperones. The requirements are few. Not more than two students to a home. They may share a room but must have a bed of their own. Entertainment to be in an informal home atmosphere and the host family must be responsible for all transportation. The arrival and departure of the bus will be at the Onteora Central School building.

If any family in the district would enjoy entertaining one or two of these young people, for a visit in their home, they may contact Mrs. Carle, Wittenberg Road, Mt. Tremper.

Easter Dawn Service At Shady Methodist

The annual Easter Dawn Service will be held at 6:30 a. m. at the Methodist Church of Shady this Sunday.

The Rev. James Cook, pastor of the Overlook Methodist Church, will be the guest preacher.

The Shady church choir, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur MacDaniel, will offer special music for the occasion.

The service will be held in the church, due to the early season which would make it too cold to hold out-of-doors. The public is cordially invited to attend this annual dawn service.

Bennett Club Is Highly Pleased With Local Trip

The Bennett Banner Club of the Bennett School at Boiceville recently took an educational trip to Kingston last week, visiting several business places and other points of interest.

These junior reporters visited the New York Telephone Company, Station WKNY, William Rylance and Sons, Inc., Western Union and the main post office, in order to gain some knowledge of the actual operation of these businesses. The information, individual impressions and reactions resulting from their experiences have been written by the pupils in a series of articles to be published in the next issue of the Bennett Banner, the school newspaper, which will feature communications as its theme.

Students Impressed

The group of sixth-graders was impressed by the complexity of the telephone company's apparatuses. At the radio station, they marvelled at the precision and smoothness with which commercials were injected into the radio program. At the telegraph office, it was a thrilling moment when the speeding, clicking keys brought back the message that in Woodstock the weather was marvelous. A chorus of surprise and interest rose in unison as the machinists at Rylance Printers put their machines through human-like paces. The realization that a letter receives a great deal of service and attention for the small fee of a postage stamp brought looks of amazement.

The youngsters returned to Onteora deeply grateful that adults had suspended their important business routines in order to help the 30 curious school children learn about the various businesses. The hospitality, courtesy and patience extended by the Kingstonians left a lasting impression on the youngsters.

Red Cross Helps Local Operation

The quick response of the emergency in Woodstock over the weekend was an excellent example of Red Cross efficiency "right in our own backyard," Mrs. Ben L. Webster, Woodstock township Red Cross drive chairman said today.

She was referring to the plight of six youths of Centerville Troop 31 Boy Scouts who were lost on Overlook Mountain Saturday night.

When the alarm was sounded, the Red Cross' 24-hour home service system went into action, Mrs. Webster said. Mrs. Bart and Mrs. Shellenberg of Kingston were the first contacts for the Red Cross and they alerted Mrs. Walter Hubbard, Red Cross director in Kingston.

Dispense Food

Hot coffee and sandwiches were dispatched to the scene and Red Cross workers dispensed the food and beverage for several hours while the operation was being brought to a successful conclusion.

"This was just another example of the efficiency and dispatch with which the Red Cross acts in emergencies of this kind," said Mrs. Webster. "We had it happen right in our own backyard, but it happens thousands of times a year in our own country and around the world. The public is made aware of the Red Cross disaster and emergency operations only in major catastrophes, but the fact is the work continues all the time."

Mrs. Webster noted the imminent conclusion of the 1964 Red Cross fund campaign in Woodstock township and urged the public to be generous in their donations.

League Will Hear Bond Issue Talk

Facts concerning the forthcoming bond issue referendum will be discussed by Dr. George Sullivan, Superintendent of the Onteora Central Schools, at the next general membership meeting of the Woodstock League of Women Voters on Wednesday, April 1st at 8 p. m. at Deanie's.

Voters of the District will be asked to vote on an addition to the Central High School on April 8 from 2 p. m. until 9 p. m. Registration will be held on April 3 from 2 p. m. until 8 p. m.

A question and answer period will follow Dr. Sullivan's presentation and the League invites all interested voters to attend. The business meeting will conclude the meeting.

Christian Science Theme Is on 'Reality'

The effect of the resurrection on Jesus' disciples will be one of the themes at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Both Matthew's and John's account of the resurrection will be read as part of the Bible Lesson on "Reality." Also included will be this passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Through all the disciples experienced, they became more spiritual and understood better what the Master had taught. His resurrection was also ther resurrection. It helped them to raise themselves and others from spiritual dullness and blind belief in God into the perception of infinite possibilities" Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 34).

Sunday services in Woodstock begin at 11 a. m. Sunday school to which pupils up to the age of 20 are welcome convenes also at 11.

The Public Reading Room is open every Tuesday and Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4. It is located in the church building at 85 Tinker Street.

Social Critic

Gore Vidal Mad All the time – While in U. S.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm going to postpone fat and death and boredom as long as possible," said Gore Vidal, who has a mind that explodes with ideas like a pan full of popcorn.

"Most people are subjective narcisssists. They don't see themselves falling apart. I'm an objective narcissist. I can see what happens to myself."

Vidal is the grandson of the late blind Sen. Thomas P. Gore. Literature is his profession, but politics and social criticism are his hobbies.

One of Most Controversial

If he isn't America's angriest young man, he certainly is one of its most controversial — by choice.

"In Europe I'm rarely angry," he said. "Here I'm mad all the time. There's always something happening to keep me flowing with adrenalin."

Vidal, who never bothered going to college, started writing at 14. Now 38, tall and darkly handsome, he has turned out some nine novels, three Broadway plays, eight screen scripts, 30 television plays, a book of essays, a collection of short stories and innumerable critical articles.

He also found time in 1960 to run as a Democrat for Congress —and lose — from President Franklin D. Roosevelt's old mid-Hudson River district, a Republican haunt.

Vidal said he hopes to settle down now to writing novels and criticizing his fellow man, although he is toying with the thought of running for office again — perhaps on the New York Democratic statewide ticket.

A quirky man, he remarked of himself:

Horror of Extra Weight

"I have a horror of putting on weight. I'm 6 feet, but if I get much over 160 pounds I hole up in a hotel room and starve myself.

"I'm a physical coward, very nervous about death, have a terror of airplanes. But I try to compensate for my physical cowardice by moral bravery.

"I am obsessed by the idea of justice, but I have no absolute idea what it is. It's easier to define it by what it is not. I keep wrestling with illusion and reality.

"People in this country, including politicians and businessmen, are completely unrealistic.

"The businessman who opposes government pumpwelling is the biggest beneficiary of it. Politicians praise thrift, but thrift has been out of date for 50 years."

"Politics is improvisation," he said. "A writer has to say what he thinks. A politician often, for good or bad reasons, has to disguise what he thinks."

"Many American writers are stupider than their readers because they don't read much themselves—as European writers do. If they read more good books, they'd write fewer bad books," Vidal said.

"My favorite living American writer? There's none I admire enormously. I can't think of anybody."

Would Have Johnson Be Firm Concerning Foreign Affairs

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most powerful Democrats in Congress has suggested, in effect, that President Johnson stop playing to the gallery in his handling of foreign affairs.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in an 8,000-word speech Wednesday criticized the Johnson administration for yielding to the "'malady of chronic and excessive caution."

He said "an effective foreign policy is one which concerns itself more with innovation abroad than with conciliation at home. It is sometimes necessary for leaders to do unpleasant and unpopular things."

Fulbright ranged the world—communism, Russia, Red China, Viet Nam, Cuba, Latin America, Panama—calling for this country and its leaders to abandon ancient myths, do some re-thinking and face realities.

But on some of the problems he mentioned Fulbright didn't seem to have any new ideas himself.

Nevertheless, all this got a quick and cynical response from Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the platform committee at this summer's Republican convention.

In a House speech answering Fulbright he called the senator's talk a trial balloon launched with the blessing, support and probably at the instigation of the Johnson administration.

He called it the "first gun in an administration drive to extricate itself as painlessly as possible from the morass of foreign policy blunders" of the past three years.

This writer asked Laird Wednesday night if he was implying that Johnson and Fulbright cooked up the speech between them. Laird said: "That's the implication."

The Fulbright speech created such heat in the Senate that practically all work on the civil rights bill stopped.

Here are some of Fulbright's views:

Cuba—He said invasion is unthinkable, a blockade is out of the question since it might lead to war, and that even the present American trade boycott aimed at trying to topple Fidel Castro is a failure.

He suggested acceptance of the continued existence of Castro as a "distasteful nuisance," but he neglected to say how this country should, or could, do business with him, if that's what he had in mind.

South Viet Nam—He was for continuing aid. But he was a little out of date here. The Johnson administration said last week it would do that.

Red China—Fulbright said we are committed to "'inflexible policies from which we hesitate to depart" on Red China and other areas of Asia. What would he do about Red China?

He wouldn't recognize it, or agree to let it in the United Nations, or enter normal relations with it until it gives up its designs on Formosa.

But Fulbright belted the Johnson administration's handling of the Panama crisis and its hair-splitting: Its willingness to "discusss" a revision of the 1903 Panama Canal treaty but not to "negotiate" about it.

The senator suggested Panama got a pretty raw deal when the treaty was signed 61 years ago and Johnson should be willing to "negotiate."

He said the President and his advisers have a responsibility in a situation like this to "exercise their own best judgment as to where the national interest lies'" even though it may mean "unpopular decisions."

This country, Fulbright said, should re-examine its dealings with Russia to take advantage of the Russian-Red Chinese split and be prepared for revolutions in Latin America where "oligarchies'" oppose peaceful social change.

But things really got mixed up when Laird called on Johnson to state his position on Fulbright's talk.

The White House issued a statement:

"It is a very interesting speech. But specifically on Cuba and Panama it does not represent the policy of this administration."

Newcombe Will Open Local Office After April 15

Lloyd A. Newcombe, Catskill business man who is contesting the designation of Senator E. Ogden Bush of Delancy, Delaware County, as the Republican choice for State Senate, announced Tuesday in Catskill that he would open a Kingston campaign headquarters office on Fair Street after April 1.

Claiming that Greene County is "solidly behind" his campaign to enter the June 2 primary, Newcombe has announced that he will make Kingston and Ulster County one of his main areas for the campaign to win the Republican senatorial designation on Primary Day for the party choice on the Republican ticket in the 34th State Senatorial District. City and county chairmen for the campaign will be announced shortly.

Dr. Bush, incumbent, received the unofficial designation by his party at a recent district conference. The Greene County delegation voted for Newcombe.

Cancer Funds Pegged To Leukemia Research

It is estimated that in 1963, some 9,300 males and 6,500 females developed leukemia, cancer of the blood-forming tissues, according to a spokesman for the American Cancer Society 1964 Crusade scheduled to be launched by the Ulzster County Cancer Society April 1.

Is a breakthrough in leukemia possible? Many scientists think so. Leukemia has long been considered primarily a disease of childhood, it was explained.

It has not become a major cancer problem; not so much among children as among adults. The disease for some unknown reason seems to have leveled off in children, but has increased 17 per cent in adult males and 7 per cent in females in the last 10 years.

Could Control Others

A medical spokesman for the ACS explains that the society is seeking some of the basic answers to the growing leukemia problem. The answers, if found, may not lead to a leukemia cure or preventative, but may help control other cancers.

Medical records show that since 1945, the ACS has spent nearly $12 million on leukemia research and currently has in effect research grants, directly or indirectly related to leukemia, that total over $2,000,000—more than any other voluntary health agency.

The society's leukemia research program seeks to answer these basic questions.

Do viruses cause human leukemia? It has been established that viruses can cause leukemia in animals.

Can leukemia be prevented by a vaccine or other means? It can be done in animals; it remains to be seen if it can be done in humans.

Can a drug be found which will be permanently effective in checking the course of leukemia? Drugs have been found that will arrest leukemia temporarily, but not permanently.

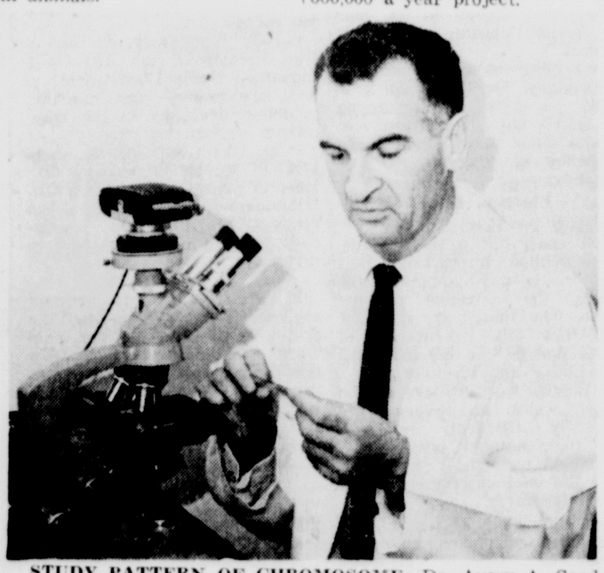

See Link to Virus

Medical experts say that evidence seems to indicate that leukemia may be caused by a virus. "Many scientists place their hope in this theory," a spokesman for the ACS medical group said. "Should this be found to be true, then the possibility of developing a vaccine against leukemia in humans is possible.

"If a vaccine can be developed that will work against one type of cancer there is a possibility that a vaccine may be developed that will work against many types of cancer."

Noting that the last 15 years has seen a marked improvement in the treatment of leukemia patients, including the prolonging of lives for months and even years, a medical spokesman said, "The course of leukemia has been slowed, even halted for a time, by new drugs, blood transfusions and other surgery."

Supported by this knowledge and experience the ACS is constantly expanding its Conquer Leukemia Program. The society launched this program in 1945 with a modest allocation of a little more than $11,000 for research in the field. Today, a spokesman explains, this modest investment has grown into a $2,000,000 a year project.

STUDY PATTERN OF CHROMOSOME—Dr. Avery A. Sandberg, chief of the Medicine B. Department at Roswell Park Memorial Institute, Buffalo, is shown studying the pattern of chromosome arrangement in various human leukemias. The study is made to determine the difference within this group of diseases. A spokesman for the American Cancer Society 1964 Crusade which starts in Ulster county April 1, notes that Leukemia, cancer of the blood-forming tissues, has now become a major cancer problem, not so much among children as among adults. Residents of Ulster County have been urged to contribute generously to the ACS Crusade to put this year's financial drive over the top.

Gregory Charges 'Whitewash' in Rochester Issue

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A "whitewash" — that's how comedian Dick Gregory describes the conclusions of an investigation into why he and 18 other Negroes were refused service at a cocktail lounge here Feb. 15.

The Monroe County Human Rights Commission said Wednesday it felt discrimination was not the reason for the refusal. But it sharply criticized the judgment of the lounge management in not reopening the room to serve the Negroes.

Gregory, contacted in New York City, threatened to take the issue to court. He said "everyone in our group is willing to take a lie-detector test to prove they believed the bar was still open."

The lounge is at Rochester-Monroe County Airport. Gregory and his party had arrived there at about 12:10 a.m., a short time after the lounge had been closed for the night.

Demos Fortifying Belief LBJ Can Hold South Areas

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration Democrats are piling up party unity evidence fortifying their belief that President Johnson can hold on to a substantial segment of the South in the November election.

These Democrats were cheered by a fresh exhibition of loyalty by Gov. Donald Russell of South Carolina. Russell told his state party's convention Wednesday he thinks no GOP presidential nominee could match Johnson "in experience, personal qualification and understanding of national and international problems."

What was to the point, also, was Russell's notation that South Carolina had supported Johnson in the 1960 convention and the governor's prediction that it would be behind him this year.

Johnson's friends recently patched up a truce between quarreling Democrats in Texas that seemed likely to improve the chances of the national ticket there.

When the President spoke at a Florida party rally, Democrats of every description turned out. Some of them probably wouldn't have shown up for a speech by the late President John F. Kennedy because of their opposition to his civil rights position.

Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia is on record with a prediction the South will rally behind Johnson.

Kennedy had a great deal of trouble with Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Barnett had launched an independent electors' movement designed to keep his and other Southern states' votes away from the national Democratic nominee.

But since Paul B. Johnson succeeeded Barnett as governor there has been less talk about any such bolt. The President's friends are hopeful that the governor can see his way clear to avoid an open break.

Old Concepts Vanished, Patterns Fixed

Legislature Was Time of Upheaval In State Government and Politics

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The 1964 session of the Legislature was a time of upheaval in New York State government and politics.

Some old concepts vanished and patterns for future developments were fixed. Among the highlights:

Some Highlights

—Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, who spent much of his political life in the shadow of others, emerged as a strong political figure in his own right.

—The political interests of Gov. Rockefeller and the Republican majorities in the Legislature separated to the point that they were engaged in head-on conflict on some major issues.

—The problem of state aid to education became so big that it dominated the governor and Legislature, forced them into action they had no intention of taking.

Point to Tax Increase

—Decisions made on spending and other fiscal policies pointed almost certainly to a major increase in state taxes next year.

Carlino distinguished himself as the chief architect of a school-aid plan, the man who saved the governor's housing program from defeat and won passage of a bill, opposed at the outset by organized labor, to ban racial discrimination in apprentice-training progress.

The speaker's name figured in high-level discussions as never before and his prospects for winning the GOP nomination for governor, his political goal, were enhanced.

For years, Carlino was known as the protege of Nassau County GOP Leader J. Russel Sprague and, later, as Rockefeller's legislative lieutenant, the man who could be counted on to do the governor's bidding in the session.

This year Carlino and Rockefeller were at odds on the schoool-aid proposal, with the speaker prevailing and winning the governor's assent to an increase.

Most Changed Minds

When the governor's housing program was rejected and later approved in the Assembly, observers saw this as a demonstration by Carlino that he held the final decisions on Rockefeller programs.

Before the second vote, Carlino summoned one Republican after another to the rostrum in the Assembly. Most opponents had changed their minds by the time the vote was counted.

Rockefeller's role as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president has brought about a seeming change in his relations with the Republican majority members, particularly those from Upstate.

When the governor swung in from the national campaign trails on March 16—nine days before the scheduled end of the session—he found much of his program bogged down.

The GOP lawmakers, running for re-election themselves this year, were against the housing program and unhappy with his proposals for easing liquor controls. Those from the major suburban counties were upset that there was not a major increase in aid for their fast-growing schoools.

Many believed that Rockefeller's national ambitions had taken him away from the state too often and that he was not sufficiently informed or interested in state political problems.

Toll-Free for Now

OTTAWA (AP) — Ships and their cargoes are expected to move through the Welland Canal between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie without paying tolls when the shipping season opens next week.

A reliable source said Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill would annnounce today in the House of Commons that toll-free traffic would continue until the Canadian and U.S. governments complete a review of tolls on the St. Lawrence Seaway and the Welland Canal. Negotiating teams of the Canadian Seaway Authority and the U.S. St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation are to report to their governments by July 1.

Probe Burglary At Gas Station

Investigation of a burglary at Bryant's Shell Service Station on Route 28, which netted the intruder $41.35 was conducted today by County Investigator Thomas Mayone.

At 1:25 a. m. today the sheriff's office received an anonymous call reporting someone was breaking into the service station. Deputies Calvert Harvey and Ronald Dietz investigated and discovered screws had been removed from a door and the place entered.

While the deputies were in the station, another anonymous call was received and the unidentified caller asked "Is this Bryant's Service Station," and then replaced the receiver on the hook.

The money, Mayone said, was taken from the cash register.

AROUND THE MOON—This is how an artist sees the Lunar Orbiter spacecraft in orbit about 28 miles from the moon's surface. The Orbiter has blossomed from a compact package, opening its petals of solar cell panels and stalks carrying antennas. It is hoped that the first of five of these vehicles to be built will be ready for missions in 1966. It would take photos of the moon, which would be radioed back to earth. Objects three-feet square would be recorded in the film. Overlapping of pictures would provide full coverage of selected areas and a three-dimensional effect to aid moon studies.

Study of Cancer Reveals Living Has Its Effects

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

PALM BEACH SHORES, Fla. (AP)—An unprecedented study of the health records among thousands of Roman Catholic nuns throughout the country indicates that the incidence of cancer—and distribution of its site of occurrence—among nuns is diffferent "from that of their fellow women of America."

Way of Life Differs

The evidence suggests the difference is due to their way of life.

This was reported today to the sixth annual seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. James T. Nix of New Orleans, La., said the study was aimed primarily at collecting and verifying the cause of death of nuns from 262 communities with a nun population of 116,173, during 1963.

It was felt, he said, that "comparison with known data on the cause of death of [illegible] women over 20 years of age in the United States will clarify the relationship of celibacy, abstinence from alcohol and cigarette smoking, and other environmental factors to the type of cancer causing death in women."

Describing today's report as preliminary, Dr. Nix said it is based on 1,116 deaths among the 116,173 nuns, and a study of various other things such as the frequency of lung cancer and of gallstones.

Findings Aired

Among the findings:

1. A confirmation of previous, undocumented impressions that nuns rarely get cancer of the cervix, the entrance of the womb. The theory is, said Dr. Nix, that this infrequency of cervix cancer can be attributed to celibacy and virginity.

2. Deaths from cancer of the breast, womb and ovary were relatively frequent, however, with their number possibly explainable, the doctor indicated, by a life without pregnancy and, breast feeding.

3. A pilot study of lung cancer incidence—undertaken among a population where cigarette smoking is forbidden and "exposure to smoke is largely limited to vigil lights and kitchen ranges"—showed only 333 cases of this disease among 100,0000 nuns admitted to 500 Catholic hospitals over a 10-year period. "Primary carcinoma of the lung is less frequent in nuns than in the general population," Nix said.

Cherokee Indian tongue still is spoken by 50,000 Indians in Oklahoma and North Dakota, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Cobalt Capsule Hunt Abandoned In State Areas

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Authorities in two widely separated Upstate New York communities have abandoned their search for a capsule containing dangerous amounts of radioactive cobalt.

Police in Buffalo and in the village of Interlaken, northwest of Ithaca, said Wednesday night they had found no trace of the cobalt capsule, reported missing by a Cornell University employe.

David G. Hanson, an employe of Cornell University Extension Service, reported the capsule missing after instructing a class for Civil Defense volunteers Tuesday in Harriman Library at the University of Buffalo.

He said the bullet-shaped capsule could have been lost in the library at Buffalo or at the firehouse in Interlaken, where he had conducted a similar class Monday evening.

But officials said searchers carrying geiger counters and other sensitive detection equipment had found no trace of radioactivity at either location.

Arrested by Kingston state police Wednesday, on complaint of his son, Harold Crantz, 41, of Albany Avenue Extension, Kingston, was charged with assault in the third degree as the result of an incident at a local supermarket.

Eviction Stayed For Families in Kinzua Section

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — About a dozen families have won a new lease on the life they may spend on land to be taken over for the Kinzua Dam project.

Federal Judge Joseph P. Willson Wednesday granted the extra time to residents of the Corydon area on grounds that the government did not give them ample notice to move.

The families live on land owned by three persons.

Judge Willson, ruling on three petitions for stay of eviction, said the properties of Edwin L. Van Sickle and John Van Time should be vacated by Sept. 1 and the property of Paul R. Duntley should be vacated by May 1.

Urban Renewal Is To be Featured At Lions Show

Plans for assistance at the city's urban renewal booth at the Lions Club Home & Automobile Show were completed Wednesday night by the Citizens Executive Advisory Committee.

J. R. Shults Sr. chairman, said members of the committee and various subcommittee will join staff members in manning the booth. Dates of the exposition are from April 14 to 18 at the New York State Armory, Manor Avenue.

Featured in the booth will be the six by eight foot model of the Broadway East urban renewal area and illustrated site plans of the uptown project.

Literature There

A new pamphlet dealing with both projects is being prepared and will be distributed at the exposition.

Mainly because of the approaching public hearing on urban renewal, the public is invited to visit the booth, where they will have the opportunity to review plans and ask questions about any phase of the program.

Members of the committee said they were gratified that the Broadway East project has reached the stage of public hearing. Detailed plans are being developed by the committee to assist and cooperate with city officials in bringing about the early start of the execution phase of the project.

Condominiums Is Builders' Topic

Robert J. Smith, assistant New York State director of the Federal Housing Administration, discussed condominiums—a new development in the housing industry—at a dinner meeting of the Hudson Valley Home Builders Association, Tuesday night, at the Ship Lantern Inn, Milton.

Fifty-nine builders, bankers and building supply members of the association heard Smith give details of the development of condominiums and condominium financing. Condominium ownership, which are individually owned units in multifamily structures, has become possible in New York State for the first time in 1964. A law recently passed by the state legislature and signed by Gov. Rockefeller makes the construction of condominiums possible.

Some Confusion

Smith pointed out that some confusion exists as to the difference between condominium housing and cooperative housing. Smith said the chief differences between the two are as follows: In condominiums, individuals take title to their units; in cooperatives, an individual has a stock ownership in the cooperative and the right of occupancy to a specific unit.

In condominiums, individuals vote on a proportionate basis; in cooperatives, each individual has one vote regardless of the size of his unit.

In condominiums, individuals are taxed separately on their units; in cooperatives, individuals pay their share of taxes on the project in their monthly carrying charges.

In condominiums, individuals are responsible only for mortgage indebtedness and taxes involving their own property and their proportionate share of the expenses of operating the common property, and have no mortgage indebtedness, tax or other liability for the other properties; in cooperatives, each individual is dependent upon the solvency of the entire project.

Notes Requirements

Smith said that a condominium, to be eligible for FHA financing, must have at least five living units and be composed of no more than two structures. An individual may own several units in a condominium and must occupy at least one of them.

Since condominium housing is new in New York State, Smith urged interested builders to discuss any plans they might have for condominium housing with the FHA prior to construction. Smith also said that representatives of FHA also would be willing to meet with local planning and zoning boards to discuss condominium housing.

Pending federal legislation on land development also was briefly mentioned by Smith. Under the proposed legislation, the FHA would be able to subsidize land, install the necessary roads and utility services and then sell the land to home builders for development of an over-all or piece-meal basis.

Prior to the talk, Michael Guttman, Cornwall, reported on the work of the association's legislative affairs committee. Guttman reviewed a number of bills that are on the floor of the state legislature pertaining to the housing industry and action on which should be taken this week.

Harry Raker, chairman of a dinner dance to be held by the Hudson Valley Home Builders April 11, reported that the selling of tickets has been extremely good. The dance will be held at the Hellenic Center, Poughkeepsie.

Sam Hankin, Poughkeepsie, president of the Hudson Valley Home Builders Association, presided at the meeting.

4th Arrest Made In Link to Rail Bombing Attempt

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A fourth union member has been arrested in connnection with a bombing attempt on the strikebound Florida East Coast Railway.

FBI agents arrested John Katsikos, 40, a part-time college student, father of four children and recording secretary for Local 555 of the Brotherhoood of Railroad Carmen, Wednesday.

Katsikos, a car inspector for Florida East Coast railway for 10 years, is charged with attempting to dynamite one of the line's trains two weeks ago.

Students May

Ronder's statement follows:

"Though Dr. Hoover (Supt. of Schools W. Wendell Hoover) informed The Freeman on Tuesday, March 24, 1964, that the boys had not been 'expelled,' but only suspended, I quote from the letter sent to the parents under the signature of Dan H. Allen, principal of Kingston High School, 'This letter will inform you that as of March 18, 1964, I have expelled your son.'

"The school authorities allege that a hearing was held by the administration council. This is to emphatically state that none of the expelled children met with, at, or before the administrative council before the imposition of sentence. The only 'hearing' thereafter was at the childrens' own request when they appeared for questioning. Each child appeared for 25 to 30 minutes, without parent, attorney or religious counselor allowed to be present.

"No evidence was taken as to mitigating factors or extenuating circumstances and no question as to the excessive punishment nor what the expulsions would do to their careers was asked though some were already accepted in college. At this 'hearing', the council reconsidering the punishment included four of the persons allegedly offended by the paper and a relative of a fifth.

Should Apologize

"The publication was in poor taste in some portions and used some profanity. For this, the children should apologize and receive some reasonable punishment. However, the veiled implications of its seriousness are exaggerated and the paper will be made public if the persons therein mentioned consent. Then its offensiveness will be shown to have been overstated. Overlooked in this entire proceeding are the conditions that the children were trying to correct.

"To deny a high school senior three months before graduation the right to continue his instruction and take the Regents exams in our high school, and to deny him a diploma from the school system he has attended for many years is like imposing a one-year jail sentence. Not only is a year lost out of his life, but the psychological damage may be irreparable. College acceptances and scholarships are withdrawn and a permanent record is made of the expulsion. Despite Dr. Hoover's statement, this damage can never be made up in Summer School.

"None of the children had ever been in trouble before. They are not involved with drugs, crimes, moral offenses or the physical abuse of teachers, but only with the satirizing of the school system in imprudent language.

Says Petitions Around

"Many letters have been sent and phone calls made to the various school authorities requesting the reduction of the sentence. Petitions are circulating throughout the community. Even though one parent was advised by a school authority that he did not need a lawyer, the action of the school system leaves the children and their parents no alternative but to go to the courts.

"However, once again, on behalf of all of the expelled children, a reconsideration is requested concerning the expulsions with the view toward reducing their sentences so as the children may return to Kingston High School, pick up their studies and prepare for college and the lives ahead of them. A showing of leniencey would be a credit to everyone involved."

No More Change

at Carson City, Nev., in 1879. One dealer said he was willling to pay up to $40,000 for a $1,000 bag of Morgan coins.

Dillon said these coins "cannot be equitably distributed" if the Treasury continues its release policy. The coins would be entirely absorbed by dealers and collectors, he said.

The Treasury clanged its door shut to silver dollar seekers at 11 a.m. Wednesday after an estimated $250,000 worth of cartwheels were sold.

Coming Here on April 8 with Challenging Film 'Village Beneath the Sea;' Series

One of the most unusual films of the year will be shown locally, when "Village Beneath the Sea" is presented at J. Watson Bailey School, Merilina Avenue extension, this city, Wednesday, April 8. There will be two performances, one at 8:15 p. m. and a special children's matinee at 3:45 in the auditorium of the George Washington School.

The showing, sponsored by the Adult Education Department of the Kingston City Schools, is open to the public. Tickets will be available at the door, or may be ordered in advance at the Adult Education Office, Vocational Building, Kingston High School, or by writing to the department.

HARRY PEDERSON

A classic among underwater films, "Village Beneath the Sea" will be presented in person by its producer, Harry Pederson, one of the world's leading authorities on undersea behavior. Surprisingly, with in its locale in the liquid world of the sea, the film manages to be very human in its interest.

Some scientists believe that the twentieth century may well be remembered as much for exploration of the seas as for conquest of space, for science now has made possible extended expeditions below the surface of the ocean. And we find that the goings-on in the society of the villages beneath the sea are truly fantastic, confirming again that truth is stranger than fiction. Mr. Pederson's intimate, pains-taking film, which was more than ten years in preparation, holds special appeal to audiences of scientists and underwater fans as well as to the general public because much of the action in it never before has been photographed.

Harry Pederson, with his brother Verne, rank as two of the world's leading underwater photographers. Their film footage has been seen and enjoyed by hundreds of thousands, in motion pictures such as Rachel Carson's The Sea Around Us; Hunters of the Deep; Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea and Mysteries of the Deep, by Walt Disney. He has provided illustrations for Time and Life Publications' The World We Live In and The Sea. Mr. Pederson lectures in person with his action color film, in order to promote wider public knowledge and appreciation of the world beneath the sea.

SHOULD SHE SHARE PRIZE?

Q: Two weeks ago a neighbor sold me a raffle ticket. My number won first prize of $500. My husband thinks I should give the person who sold me the ticket a little something out of my winnings. Is this necessary?

A: It is not at all necessary, nor should she expect it.

A Party for Her Employer

Q: My boss was in the hospital for several months. For a time we didn't think he would live. Now on the road to recovery, he will be returning to the office in two weeks. I thought of arranging for a welcome back party for him. In addition to asking all of those in our office, I was thinking of asking some of the employes in our branch office who know him quite well. Would this be proper?

A: Before going ahead, make sure that your employer would like a welcome party. It might embarrass, rather than please, him. If he is in accord, then you may certainly have the party.

'Mr.' on a Man's Stationery

Q: I received a gift of stationery from a friend of mine. It is marked Mr. Henry Jones and underneath that my address. Is this paper correctly marked?

A: The stationery is incorrect. Your name should not have Mr. preceding it.

Lyric Choristers Will Give Spring Concert On April 8; Guest Soloist Is Announced

The fifth annual spring concert will be presented by the Lyric Choristers, a mixed chorus of the Kingston area, at the George Washington School Auditorium on Wednesday, April 8 at 8:15 o'clock.

This group is made up of more than 40 singers from the greater Kingston area, under the leadership of Edward T. Green, director, with Brian Steeves, associate director. Mr. Green has been conductor of the chorus since it's formation, five years ago. He is Superintendent of Schools of the Rondout Valley Central School District.

Mr. Steves is director of vocal music at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School.

Accompanist for the chorus is Margaret V. Schwarz. Associate accompanist is Barbara Lottridge.

The chorus will present as guest soloist, Joseph Sopher, tenor of New York City. He will be accompanied by Miss Ilse Sass, noted pianist.

The program will include a wide range of vocal chorus music, ranging from several spirituals, through popular show tunes and favorite Waring arrangements to some of the great sacred music for mixed chorus.

Tickets for the concert may be obtained from any member of the chorus.

Each year this group presents a substantial scholarship grant to an outstanding graduate of one of the area high schools, who is continuing on in college with a musical education. Proceeds from the concert make up the scholarship fund.

Earlier this season, the chorus traveled to Middletown, where they presented their Christmas program for the patients of the Middletown State Hospital. Their appearance was so enthusiastically received by those attending the concert, that the director of the hopsital, Dr. Hyman Pleasant has requested that the group return next season.

Arrangements are now being made for this group to also present a program at the World's Fair sometime in May.

Community Service Awards Announced By State Exposition

Community Service Awards in four separate categories at the 1964 New York State Exposition will total more than $1,000 this year, according to Mrs. Helen B. Vandervort, Director of the Women's Division, which sponsors the awards.

The Exposition opens Sept. 1, for seven days and nights.

New for 1964 is the trophy to be presented to the senior citizen group judged to have carried out the most worthwhile community project in this category.

The other three classifications are the same as in former years: the 13th Annual Community Service Awards open to all volunteer groups in the state; the teen-age division of the Community Service Awards; and the Young Woman Volunteer of the Year Award, being offered for the third time this year.

Deadline for entries in all classifications is June 26. Premium books, containing full details and entry blanks, will be available on or about April 15 from the Women's Division, New York State Exposition, Syracuse, New York 13209.

Top Award Is $500 in Cash

Mrs. M. Harrison Greene, Chairman of Community Service Awards, lists the 1964 awards as follows: first place, $500 in cash; second place, $200; third place, $100.

The first-place teen-age Community Service Award will be $200 in cash, the second-place award $100.

The Young Woman Volunteer of the Year will receive a $500 U.S. Savings Bond. The Senior Citizens Community Service award will consist of a trophy, to become the permanent possession of the winning group.

In past years, the judges have often selected other groups for honorable mention, in addition to the prize winners. All groups who submit entries receive participation certificates.

Awards will be presented during the Exposition at the annual Women's Day luncheon, Wednesday, September 2, in the Harriet May Mills Building.

Awards Open to Many New York State Groups

Eligible for Community Service Awards, according to Mrs. Greene, is "any active group or organization in New York State whose unpaid efforts have resulted in current achievements of outstanding civic usefulness."

The same definition applies to teen-age and senior citizen groups, the only difference being that of age. An organization is considered within the teen-age classification if at least 75 per cent of its members are between the ages of 15 and 18. Senior citizen groups are self-defining.

Books for Blind Earned 1963 Top Place

In 1963, the top award went to the Carrier Women's Club of Syracuse, for its project of learning braille and then producing textbooks and other reading material for the blind, using the braille writer.

Second place was awarded to the Albany Section, National Council of Jewish Women, for the nursery school they established at the Albany Medical Center Hospital's Hard of Hearing Clinic. The third prize went to the United Church Women of Syracuse and Vicinity for their countywide literacy project. Cited for honorable mention was the Junior League of Schenectady, for publishing a family-oriented tour guide of the Capital District area.

In the teen-age division, first prize was earned by the Junior Volunteer Group of the Olean General Hospital Auxiliary, for the extensive number of hours the girls contributed in performing volunteer work on a fully adult level. Second place was given to Senior Girl Scout Troop Number 25, Lakeshore School, Cicero, who canvassed their area for blood donors.

Young Woman Volunteer of 1963 was Barbara Jaros of Schenectady.

Awards Provide Recognition, Idea Exchange

"The Community Service Awards do more than give well-earned recognition to dedicated volunteers, who seldom receive any recognition at all," said Mrs. Vandervort. "They also enable volunteer organizations to share each other's ideas. This exchange helps to increase the caliber and broaden the range of volunteer activity in every community in the state.

"We hope that eligible groups, and those who want to nominate groups or individuals for awards, will begin now to consider their entries," she added.

She said that names of the judges for the 1963 Community Service Awards will be announced at a later date.

Non-Political View Of Russia Is Film Subject at College

The film "Russia and Its People" will be presented at the State University College, New Paltz, April 2 in the College Auditorium at 8 p. m.

The program, sponsored by the International Relations Association of the College, is open to the public free of charge.

Said to be an outstanding event of the season, the film by Raphael Green is an uncensored, non-political view of life behind the Iron Curtain. Mr. Green traveled thousands of miles alone through the vast Soviet Union and photographed the Russians at work, at play, on the collective farms and in the city markets. Mr. Green reports that it took two and one half years of planning and waiting for the special Russian visa to make the film. He concentrated on the Russian people and their activities, combining human interest with a first hand pictorial report. Among the subjects covered are agriculture, schools, markets, industry, churches, children, theatre, sports, and museums. Especially unusual are the scenes of factory life and farm life. Mr. Green is noted as an outstanding speaker and is director-cameraman on the Audio-Visual Education staff at the University of Minnesota. He has had wide experience in producing educational and television motion pictures, many of which are in national circulation.

Fashion tips her hat this year as brims turn up or down with gay, feminine abandon. Inspired by the wind-swept plains of Texas, Dallas millinery designer, Jan Leslie, creates a collection of "cavalier" brimmed hats, combining new imported straws and printed fabrics. Balibuntal brim (left) sweeps back from the face, providing a flattering contrast to the crown of flower-print fabric. Guatamalan colors of vivid greens and pinks form the fabric brim of the hat (right) as a bright contrast to the tall straw crown.

Mr. Cornell is a graduate of Bard College and has done graduate work at Brandeis University and the Mannes School of Music. He is a veteran, having served with the U. S. Army Signal Corps. Mr. Cornell will reside in Hyde Park and work closely with Mr. Rosenblum in the operations of both playhouses.

Scout Troop 70 Discusses Plans For Easter Week

With Troop 70's Easter week camp-out only a week away, 35 Scouts attended the Monday troop meeting at Highland Methodist Church Hall to make final preparations.

Scoutmaster Edward Dapp gave a talk and demonstration on "tin can" craft including how to make lamps, candle holders, pot holders, pots, buckets and cups. How to make "fire bugs" (for wet weather fire starting) was shown, also waterproofing matches and many other handy tips to make living outdoors more comfortable and enjoyable during a hike or camp-out.

Committeeman Edward Petery and Institutional Representative Roy Sears contributed their help towards the program's activities. Visitors during the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Terpening and David Dunn.

Scout Pack 70 Entertained by Alfred Douglass

Cub Scout Pack 70 of Highland, with Cubmaster Lewis DiStasi presiding, last week were visited by Alfred Douglass of New Paltz and his son, Ross.

Douglass is a Cherokee Indian, and with his son, explained the Indian clothing and the dances and movements they performed. Among the dances the Cub Scouts saw were the Eagle Dance, Bear Dance, War Dance and Hunting Dance. Den 5 joined them in a Snake Dance.

Since the theme for this month's pack meeting was Indians, Douglass' visit set the scene for the program. Den 8 opened with an Akela ceremony about the American Flag. Den 4 presented a skit about Pocohontas and John Smith. Dens 6 and 7 combined to "Pass the Peace Pipe" and Den 8 showed "The Last of the Mohicans."

Bard College Team Is Commended by TV Program Sponsors

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y.—Dr. Reamer Kline, president of Bard College, received today a letter from John Cleary, executive producer of the GE College Bowl program commending the four Bard Students who participated in the College Bowl program and in which he expresses the hope that Bard College may again participate in the program.

Dear Dr. Kline:

We would like to thank you for the fine team which represented Bard College on the GE College Bowl and for all the cooperation and enthusiasm we received.

Intelligent, alert and determined, the students did a fine job and they should certainly be commended for their success.

We appreciate also the wonderful cooperation we received from Dean Harold Hodgkinson and would like to thank him, Dr. Justus Rosenberg, William Russell and all those who worked with the team in preparation for the program.

We hope the students enjoyed their weekends in the City and their appearances on the program, and that in the future we may once again call upon Bard College to participate in the "College Bowl."

Science Conference At New Paltz College

A group of nine students at the State University College, New Paltz, will present research reports at the 18th Annual Eastern College Science Conference scheduled for April 30-May 2 at Jersey City, N. J.

Reports on all five research projects were submitted and approved by the Committee of the Conference for presentation on this year's program.

The students and the project reports involved include: Jean Couch and Ermaline Turner who will report on the effects of certain hormones, amino acids and cancer-producing compounds on the growth of microorganisms; Godwin Oyewole and Susan Shapiro will present their research on the production of amino acids by bacteria in Nitrogen-deficient media; and Paul Gottlieb and John Halvorsen who will report their findings on the influence of sex hormones on the fungus infection aspergillosis in white rats.

Gale Menendez and Dolores Thompson will report on the growth-regulating effects of ultra violet light on certain bacteria and Vito DeCaesare will report his investigations of bacterial growth under various light spectra.

Eyes Are Trained On Tornado Alley

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—A small army of weather-conscious men and women, both amateurs and professionals, is beginning to keep eyes on the skies in tornado alley.

Tornado alley is that area of the midcontinent that stretches from West Texas northeastward to the Canadian border. Over the years more twisters have been reported in this area than any where else in the country. Eastern Kansas and western Missouri are in the heart of the alley.

Officials in the Kansas City Weather Bureau explained preparations for spottting tornadoes and issuing warnings to residents this spring in an area roughly bounded by Sioux City, Iowa; Hastings, Neb.; Russell, Kan.; Tulsa, Okla.; Fayetteville Ark.; and the Mississippi River.

April, May and June are the worst tornado months. The past nine years the Kansas City Bureau has issued from three to five tornado forecasts a month in a 200-mile area, said Bob Baskins, supervisor of guidance forecasting in a news conference Wednesday.

The government agency issues a tornado forecast whenever conditions indicate the likelihood of tornadoes or severe thunderstorms. It issues a tornado warning only after a confirmed tornado has been sighted on the ground.

The Kansas City Weather Bureau has a staff of 117 volunteer sky watchers located about five miles apart around the city. Other bureaus, such as Sedalia and Columbia, Mo.l Wichita and Topeka, Kan., have from one to 50 observers.

Russians Offer Vast Trade Help To Poor Nations

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union offered the world's poor nations sweeping trade advantages today and offered to help their infant industries even at the cost of reducing Soviet exports.

The offer was made to the 122-nation U.N. trade and development conference by Nikolai S. Patolichev, Soviet minister of foreign trade. The meeting is a forum for the underdeveloped nations to press demands for a larger share of world trade.

The United States has taken a diffferent line, warning the have-not nations that they can achieve prosperity only by effort on their own part in addition to asssistance from the developed nations. Their reaction to the U.S. ideas, outlined on Wednesday by Undersecretary of State George Ball, was generally critical.

Patolichev said the Soviet Union "will increase the purchases in the developing countries of primary products as well as manufactured and semi-manufactured goods through trade agreements and as a repayment of credits granted by the Soviet Union to these countries."

Rain Welcomed By Vols, 14 New Fires Wednesday

Overnight rain was welcomed by area volunteer firemen and city firefighters, who have been kept busy the last several days extiguishing grass and brush fires.

A dispatcher at the County Fire Control Center reported 14 grass and brush fires Wednesday.

Highland firemen were called out three times, and New Paltz and Wallkill volunteers responded to two calls each. Other grass and brush fires were reported at West Hurley, Ellenville, Woodstock, Milton, Samsonville, Modena and Centerville.

Lodge Feels

Q. The war throughout South Viet Nam seems to be in a stalemate with little relative gain by either side. What changes can be expected to end this low-key period of conflict?

Lodge: "I believe that persistent execution of the existing civil-political and military plans will bring victory—provided the hostile external influences stay within bounds. Under (South Vietnamese premier) Gen. Khanh, a new and much stronger situation is being created which means that in the army bravery is being rewarded.

Local Militia Improved

"The army can clear any area in the country that it wants, but it has not been able to hold what it has cleared.

"In adddition, therefore, the local militia is being greatly improved, and a corps of civil administrators is being created so that once the army has cleared an area, it will be able to hold it.

"If the Vietnamese (and we) persist, victory will surely come."

Q. Critics at home have suggested withdrawal of U.S. troops immediately. In your opinion, what would be the effect of such action?

Lodge: "Some U.S. troops which are performing specific missions can be withdrawn as soon as their missions are completed. But a general withdrawal of the United States at this time would be disastrous. We and the Vietnamese have built a strong position here.

"The cost to us in dollars per year is less than it costs to build one airplane carrier. For us to throw away this joint investment, for which brave men have laid down their lives, would be imprudent.

Q. Do you envisage any circumstances where in the neutrality solution as proposed by France, would be acceptable to the United States, insofar as South Viet Nam is concerned?

Lodge: "The so-called 'neutralism' under present circumstances is the complete equivalent of Communist victory.

Against Dealings With North

"In describing their idea of victory always use the word 'neutralism.' But they apply it exclusively to South Viet Nam and not to the North.

"Before even discussing any kind of new relationship between North and South Viet Nam, the North should stop aggression against the South. No conversations with North Viet Nam are even conceivable while this interference in South Viet Nam's internal affairs is going on. They must withdraw immediately.

"The minute they do so, there will be peace.

"In a country which is defending itself against aggresssion, to speak of 'neutralism' is the same thing as disarming it while leaving the military potential of its aggressor intact. To do this in the case of Viet Nam would be the prelude to communizing the whole country."

JAMES M. BRETT

National Recognition for Fire Chief

Support of Sprinklers Brings Brett Acclaim

Kingston's Fire Chief James M Brett is cited as "one of the most knowledeable chiefs in the nation," in an article in a recent issue of the News Bulletin, published by the National Automatic Sprinkler and Fire Control Association, Inc., in New York City.

It praises the local chief for his stand in asking that all schools and similar buildings be equipped with automatic sprinklers. Headed, "Automatic Sprinklers Save Second School," it is datelined, Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 16 and said:

"At 3:38 this afternoon (Monday) a few students and teachers milled around the corridors and classrooms in the Vocational Education Building at Kingston High School. Classes had been dismissed.

"Several blocks away in a downtown fire station, an alarm rang. Firemen knew what it was: a fire at the high school. Within seconds the big red trucks were rolling.

Detected By Sprinklers

"A fire had begun in a boys' washroom on the first floor. No one noticed it. It could have destroyed the building. But it didn't. A single automatic sprinkler detected it; went to work immediately to extinguish it, and called firemen.

"Kingston's Fire Chief Jim Brett recalled a similar fire that occurred on Dec. 20, 1960, when two sprinklers saved St. Joseph's School from destruction, and permitted the orderly evacuation of several hundred youngsters from that four-story brick, wood joisted structure.

Could Have Been Big Loss

"Said Brett: 'All the sprinklers systems in our schools were paid for today . . . The fact that the school was occupied proved to be no guarantee that fires like these will be detected and alarms sounded.'

"He noted too that the school was ready for occupancy within 25 minutes after his men and equipment arrived. 'Much needed classroom space could have been permanently lost to the taxpayers for the balance of the year, and several lives could have been needlessly sacrificed. Sprinklers are not only the best fire protection, but on balance, they are the cheapest.'

Chief Brett, said the article, holds that "The conscientious fire official is not interested in methods that contain the element of chance. When we wish to gamble, it is not with the lives of children. We generally seek out a race track."

Praised for His View

That, said the article, is "how Jim Brett summarized his views on school fire safety in May, 1960. He hasn't changed his views since. And Kingston's schools, public and parochial, stand in testimony to his belief that 'the only really safe school is a completely sprinklered one.' Virtually every school, including a new completely fire resistive (Type 1) school are protected throughout by automatic sprinklers. To Jim Brett, one of the most knowledgeable chiefs in the nation, safety to life from fire can only be assured when provisions are made to extinguish fires when they are small, before they become lethal enough to generate the hot, toxic gases that can kill.

"Brett has made it his business to know fire safety. He has made himself master of the knowledge of the two NFPA tests, "Operation School Burning," and "Operation School Burning No. 2," the official reports on the Los Angeles fire tests of 1950-60. And he's gone a step further. He's translated that knowledge into action. At his incessant urging, Kingston's Board of Education, and parochial school officials agreed to heed his recommendations. And the elementary and secondary schools in Kingston can be numbered among the safest in the nation."

Istanbul, which gave the world the tulip, the table fork and the Turkish bath, claims to be the oldest continuously occupied large metropolis.

Hollywood News and Views

By DAVE SMITH

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Poor Robert Taylor.

He never really made it in Hollywood, somehow. Oh sure, he's handsome, rich, known all over the world, was idolized, even mobbed.

But he never really made it, somehow. Never got an Oscar, never got an ulcer, and hasn't had his fans rip his duds off him since the '30s.

Poor Bob. He's so happy and normal that some might consider him an insensitive clod.

Maybe that's why he is so relaxing to talk to. He isn't always turning himself inside out and suffering.

Haberdashery Differs

Robert Taylor off-screen doesn't look much like Robert Taylor on-screen. That famous Taylor countenance is the same. But the haberdashery fools you.

Taylor had his lady fans in a swivet for 30 years as the beau of the boudoir, the darling of the drawing room, the suave city slicker. He always managed to keep every hair in place and a high shine on his shoes.

As a star he was under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer from 1934 to 1961—as long as any film star in history—and made more than 75 pictures.

Ursula Around to Help

Helping with the chores is the former German model and actress Ursula Thiess, 39, who was touted, in her brief film career, as "the most beautiful woman in the world.'" They were married in 1954, three years after he and actress Barbara Stanwyck were divorced.

Taylor's film career has slowed considerably, but to hear him tell it, he couldn't care less. "Frankly," he says, "I like to have the time to spend on the ranch."

The most beautiful woman in the world, her black hair piled high on her head, comes out of a guest room in the bunkhouse, toting a vacuum cleaner in one hand and shaking out a small rug with the other.

Judge Bruhn Speaks

Honor Randall, Bostic For Round Robin Wins

The increasing emphasis on junior golf activities by area country clubs was hailed as a step in the right direction by Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn in a speech at Woodstock last night.

The judge, a golfer in his own right, was principal speaker at a dinner at Deanie's honoring Leon Randall and Harvey Bostic, winners of the past two Kingston Area Round Robin championships. Both are members of Wiltwyck Country Club.

Judge Bruhn urged the golf officials present to pay more attention to young people at their courses. He suggested that golfers might set aside one day a month to play with a junior member in competition.

Noting the upsurge of junior golf on the national level, Judge Bruhn said the adult golfers should not be too selfish with their own pleasures. He urged that the junior golfers be encouraged to improve their skills and become an integral part of the country club picture.

Trophies Awarded

Randall and Bostic were awarded the Schneider Trophies by Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor and tournement director. George Schneider, president of jewelry firm which will make the annual awards, spoke briefly and congratulated the two champions.

The round robin brings together champions of Twaalfskill, Wiltwyck and Woodstock in a 54-hole playoff under the so-called Palm Beach round robin method of scoring.

Randall won the inaugural event in 1962 with a plus 26 points in competition against George Hughes of Twaalfskill and Herb Waterous of Woodstock. In 1963, Bostic piled up 32 plus points against Hughes and Bill Van Aken, Woodstock champion.

Presidents of the three area clubs attended the dinner, including Joseph (Buzzy) Fitzsimmons of Woodstock; Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., Wiltwyck; and John Purvis, Twaalfskill. Also introduced were two golf chairmen—Kenneth Charlton of Woodstock and Bill McCullen, Wiltwyck and William (Buzzzy) Costello, 1963 Herdegen Memorial champion.

Elimination in State Enters Boxing Picture

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission's plan to set up an elimination tournament for heavyweight challengers already has stirred up some action to pit top contenders against each other. The commission wants to line up an opponent for heavyweight champion Cassius Clay.

Even before Gen. Melvin Krulewitch, chairman of the commission, could formalize his scheme at a meeting today, a bid was made by Madison Square Garden for a fight between former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and Cleveland Williams.

Harry Markson, director of boxing for the Garden, wired Patterson an offer of 35 per cent of the gate and television receipts to meet Williams, a hard hitter from Houston, the week of June 22.

Patterson couldn't be reached for his reaction, but in the past he has ducked the belters with a few exceptions.

Markson said Williams' manager, Hugh Benbow, already has accepted the match. Williams, ranked sixth one notch higher than Patterson, would get a smaller percentage.

There's also a strong possibility that Patterson will take on Eddie Machen, the former top contender now engaged in a comeback, in Goteborg, Sweden this June.

In addition to Machen, ranked fourth by the World Boxing Association and fifth by Ring, Patterson and Williams, the commission invited Doug Jones of New York to participate in the four - man tournament. Jones, ranked first by the WBA and second by Ring, lost a disputed 10-round decision to Clay at the Garden a year ago. All were asked to attend the meeting today.

Ernie Terrell of Chicago, ranked second by the WBA and third by Ring, wasn't invited to the tournament or meeting. His manager, Julie Isaacson, said Ernie wants to fight and wants to know why he wasn't asked. He said he'll attend and ask the general.

Northern Dancer Strong Favorite In Florida Derby

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Canadian-born Northern Dancer became a strong favorite today to win the $100,000 Florida Derby April 4 while Dandy K. moved up on the basis of his performance in the Fountain of Youth Stakes.

Dandy K., winner of his last race at Gulfstream Park at 1 1-16 miles, was last for one-quarter mile in the Fountain of Youth Wednesday and was eighth after six furlongs. He put on a blistering run through the stretch to beat Roman Brother by one length.

It was Dandy K.'s second straight win at this distance after he ran a dead heat for fifth with Roman Brother in the Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah March 3.

On that day each carried 122 pounds. In the Fountain of Youth Roman Brother carried 122, while Dandy K. had only 112.

The victory was worth $11,075 to Cecil Carmine, owner of Dandy K. who had won only $10,230 in 12 previous starts.

Roman Brother, out of the money only once in 11 races, earned $3,500 second money and has won $274,815.

Trapshoot Circuit Elects Mauro, Sets 1964 Schedule

Frank M. Mauro, of the Glasco Gun Club, was elected chairman of the Ulster County Trapshoot Circuit at the organization's annual spring meeting held Tuesday at the VFW Hall in New Paltz.

He succeeds past co-chairman Frank VonGonsic and Dr. Donald Beattie of the New Paltz Sportsmen's Club. The term is for two years.

Mauro announced that plans for this year call for night shooting under the lights as part of the regular circuit schedule. The nocturnal events will be held at the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club grounds at St. Remy on Wednesday evenings at 6 p. m. All other events take place on Sundays beginning at 1 p. m. Trophies will be presented in various categories for the first time this year. That will be based upon factors which will afford equal opportunities for all participants from the novice, including junior gunners aged 16 and under, to the expert, officials said.

Mauro said that anyone may participate in the scheduled shoots, regardless of place of residence or club affiliation. Meanwhile, he said, the pre-season enthusiasm displayed by county gunners indicated a continuing growth of the trapshoot sport in the area. Last year, he said, nearly 25,000 clay birds were released during circuit competition.

The 1964 schedule: April 12, Walker Valley; April 26, Glasco; May 10, New Paltz; May 27, Lake Katrine (night;) June 7, Walker Valley; June 24, Lake Katrine (night); July 5, New Paltz; July 19, Glasco; Aug. 2, Walker Valley 2; Aug. 16, Glasco; Aug. 30, New Paltz; Sept. 16, Lake Katrine (night); Sept. 20, invitational (practice); Sept. 27, Ulster County Championship Shoot.

The invitation shoot as well as the championship shoot are held under the auspices of the Ulster County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, circuit officials said. The site of those events will be announced at a later date by the Federation.

J. Watson Bailey Twirlers Perform at Basketball Games

Started as part of a scheduled activity program, the twirling team at the J. Watson Bailey Junior High School has developed into one of the finest precision and marching groups in the area.

Directed by Miss Mary Ann Moore, a biology teacher at the school, the group is composed of 20 girls in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Miss Moore, a native of West Virginia, is a former college twirler.

Plans are being made for the group to perform at the Spring Festival, a school assembly and at a P-TA meeting. They may also march in city parades during the year.

Among other things, the girls have sponsored several school dances with proceeds being used to purchase regulation uniforms. At present, the outfits being used were made by mothers of the girls.

They were made in the green and white school colors—bright green corderuoy with white fur trim with the captains being attired in all white with green lettering.

Captains are Linda Policano and Debbie Rifenbary. In addition to the twirlers, Matthew Marnell, a talented drummer, accompanied the girls on many of their marching maneuvers.

Canadiens Set To Bump Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Montreal's Canadiens, with a revived Bernie Geoffrion raring to go, hope to start the defending champion Toronto Maple Leafs on their way out of the Stanley Cup playoffs tonight.

The Canadiens, fresh from capturing the National Hockey League's regular season title, host the Maple Leafs in the first game of their best-of-seven semifinal series. Detroit meets the Black Hawks at Chicago in the start of the other semifinal series.

Toronto has won the Stanley Cup the last two years. But the Canadiens are favored to oust the Leafs who finished third in the regular season.

Both the Canadiens and Maple Leafs worked out Wednesday before heading for Montreal.

Chicago practiced for 80 minutes after missing a Tuesday drill because the ice at Chicago Stadium was not in shape. Detroit remained at home for its final workout.

The Black Hawks, who missed the regular season title by one point for the second straight year, are favored to get past Detroit, which wound up fourth.

Baylor's Basket Keeps Lakers in NBA Playoffs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Lakers still are alive in the Western Division semifinal playoffs in the National Basketball Association.

Elgin Baylor's shot from 20 feet out with just one second on the clock gave the Lakers a 107-105 victory over the St. Louis Hawks Wednesday night and forced a fourth game in Los Angeles Saturday in the best-of-5 series. The Hawks had won the first two games at St. Louis last weekend.

The Cincinnati Royals, back on their home court, whipped the Philadelphia 76ers in the other playoff game Wednesday and took a 2-1 lead in the Eastern Division semifinals. The fourth game is scheduled Saturday at Philadelphia.

The home court advantage, which has stood up in all six playoff games so far, nearly failed the Lakers as the Hawks overcame a 16-point deficit and tied the score at 105-105 in the last minute on a Mike Farmer steal and basket.

The Lakers lost possession on the pass-in but Charlie Vaughn's shot was blocked and the Lakers got the ball again with 11 seconds left. After a time out Baylor got the ball and waited until the last second before getting off his winning shot. Baylor finished with 23 points, compared to 39 for Jerry West who sparked the Lakers to an early 31-15 lead.

Bob Pettit, with 23, and Zelmo Beaty, with 22, topped the Hawks.

5071 Teams New Record for WIBC

The largest and richest bowling tournament in the 47-year history of the Woman's Invitational Bowling Congress (WIBC) — undoubtedly the largest sports event ever scheduled for women — will open April 9 in Minneapolis.

A total of 5071 teams (more than 25,000 women) will be competing for a prize fund of $248,924, the largest ever offered to women bowlers. The 1964 tournament, so large that it will last 46 days and occupy two bowling centers, surpasses the old women's record of 5000 teams set in 1953 at Detroit.

Women bowlers will be coming from 48 states, Bermuda, Canada and Puerto Rico, and are members of 838 women's city bowling associations. More than half are from hostess-state Minnesota, and another quarter are from neighboring Iowa and Wisconsin.

Wide Average Spread

Team averages range from less than 430 (86 pins per woman per game) to 983 (196 pins each, the average of the Linbrook Bowl team of Anaheim, Calif., winner of the 1962 and '63 WIBC championships. There are 70 teams entered with averages of 900 or over.

Other defending champions are Mrs. Helen Shablis of Detroit, Mich., all events; Mrs. Irene Monterosso of Flushing, N. Y., Queens champion; Miss Dorothy Wilkinson of Phoenix, Ariz., singles; and Mrs. Ann Heyman and Miss Ruth Redfox of Toledo, Ohio, doubles.

The huge tournament features several special events. On April 12th and 13th, 56 coeds from all parts of the U. S. will compete to determine the 1964 collegiate women's champions. Then from May 18-22, 403 of the country's best women bowlers will vie in the 1964 WIBC Queens Tournament.

On May 4-6, more than 1800 delegates are expected to convene in Minneapolis's Hotel Leamington for the 47th annual WIBC convention. They will be representing nearly 2½ million WIBC-sanctioned women bowlers.

Bond Happier With Houston

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Walter Bond is a conditional Houston Colt. That, some may say, is better than being a full-fledged Colt. He still has a chance to get away if he's bad enough.

But Walter doesn't agree. That, he says, is better than being a Cleveland Indian, and he's putting all of his 6-feet-6 and 240 pounds into being good enough to stay that way.

The Colts purchased Bond from Cleveland during the winter on a conditional basis. Now he's making a strong bid to start the season in the Houston outfield.

He powered a two-run homer in the seventh inning Wednesday, boosting the Colts to a 4-3 triumph over Detroit. Until now the 26-year-old Tennessee native has been good enough to play in only 90 games since he first reached the major leagues in 1960.

"They never game me a chance," Bond contends. "They just kept me in the minors."

Bond's major league appearances dwindled each year he was with the Indians. He played in 40 games in 1960, 38 in 1961 and 12 in September, 1962. Despite six home runs and 17 runs batted in during his briefest sojourn, he didn't see much other than Jacksonville of the International League last year.

Freeze Strikes Blow

Bond's winning blow was only one of several along the exhibition trail Wednesday. Gene Freeze's two-run blast in the sixth inning carried Pittsburgh to a 5-4 victory against Baltimore.

The Los Angeles Angels halted Cleveland 2-0 on Dick Simpson's two-run homer in the sixth.

A couple of award-winning pitchers were thumped. Milwaukee jumped on Sandy Koufax for three runs in the first three innings and went on for an 8-3 triumph against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Minnesota gave Gary Peters similar treatment, pelting him for five runs in the first three innings en route to a 7-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox. Koufax was the National League's Most Valuable Player and Peters the American League's Rookie of the Year in 1963.

In other games, the Chicago Cubs whipped San Francisco the New York Mets 10-0, Kansas City swept by St. Louis 10-3 and Cincinnati handed the New York Yankees their fourth straight defeat 2-1.

Three Shooting For AHL Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pittsburgh, Cleveland or Rochester. Take your pick. Any one of the three can win the Western Division title in the American Hockey League.

Cleveland closed in on Pittsburgh with a 5-0 shutout over Providence Wednesday night while the Hornets lost to Hershey 4-2.

This gave the Barons 77 points to Pittsburgh's 79 while Rochester is third at 76. Cleveland and Pittsburgh each have two games left before the regular season ends Sunday. Rochester has three, including tonight's game at Baltimore.

Buffalo came from behind a 3-1 deficit to beat Springfield 4-3 in overtime in Wednesday's other scheduled AHL game. Doug Robinson's goal after 1:28 of the overtime was the winner after Barry Cullen's second goal had tied the score for the Bisons midway of the third period.

Jean Guy Morrissete filled in ably in the nets for injured goalie Les Binkley as Cleveland scored its shutout on home ice. Four of the Baron goals came while Providence had a player in the penalty box.

Ed Chadwick, who used to tend goal for Pittsburgh, came up with 47 saves against his former teammates, as Hershey overcame a 2-0 deficit for its victory on Pittsburgh ice.

Several of Chadwick's stops were of the spectacular variety in the last period as he kept the Hornets from scoring. Mike Nykoluk's goal at 5:01 of the third period broke a 2-2 tie and proved to be the winner.

Requiem for A Ball Park

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

The first heralded the 26th annual reunion of the Professional Basketball Old Timers Association, scheduled Saturday, April 25, in New York.

The other dealt with WABC-TV's forthcoming sports special, "The Polo Grounds — Requiem for an Arena" scheduled for presentation on Wednesday, April 15, from 10-11 p. m.

Two prominent sports personalities — Tom Meany of the New York Mets and Jackie Farrell will figure prominently in the Old Timers shindig. Meany will again be the toastmaster and Farrell will receive a plaque along with two former professional basketball greats — Henry (Dutch) Dehnert of the Original Celtics and Joe Brennan, one of the all-time Brooklyn products.

The committee for the event is a vertible Hall of Fame. Among the names listed are such as Benny Borgmann, Honey Russell, John Conaty, John O'Brien, Barney Sedran, Rusty Saunders, Willie Scrill, Gaza Chizmadia, Rody Cooney, Muggsy Miller, Ray Kennedy, all titans of another era before the advent of the tall men.

THE N. Y. POLO GROUNDS A LAND OF LEGENDS

Horace McMahon, the "father" of Jackie Gleason's TV "girl friend" will narrate the requiem to the Polo Grounds. Howard Cosell, the producer, had plenty of memories to choose from and these are only a few of the incidents associated with National League stronghold under Coogan's Bluff:

A) Christy Mathewson pitched there; b) John McGraw managed there; as did Bill Terry, Mel Ott and Leo Durocher; c) Babe Ruth began his New York career there; d) Fred Merkle failed to touch second base there, in the classic baseball boner of all time; e) Hubbell struck out five American League All Stars consecutively; f) Thomson hit the home run against Branca there; g) Willie Mays began there and made the catch on Vic Wertz there; h) Dusty Rhodes made pinch hit history there; i) the Giants departed the scene and the Mets and Stengel came there; j) Durocher moved over from Brooklyn and replaced Ott; and so it goes with a baseball history second to none.

THERE WERE GREAT BOXING MOMENTS, TOO

The Polo Grounds had its great boxing moments, too. Just a few: a) Dempsey fought Firpo there in the greatest bout of all time; b) Louis beat Conn there; c) Sugar Ray Robinson knocked out Turpin there and bowed to Joey Maxim; d) Floyd Patterson became the only man in history to recapture the heavyweight title when he knocked Ingo Johannson there; e) Mike Jacobs had four champions defend their titles on one and the same night there.

OTHER SIDELIGHTS ON A FABULOUS ARENA

Auto races have been held there, soccer and lacrosse have played there; war bond rallies have been held there, so have religious revival meetings, etc. Presidents have often been in attendance there, Eisenhower while still in the Army and a war hero.

A man was shot to death there; the place was once destroyed by fire and rebuilt; for a time it appeared that the backwash of the Harlem River would submerge the playing area; the Vanderbilts and Whitneys used to go there on a subway special every day from Wall street; they built the pressbox without a building permit, and they never did get one. The Pearl Harbor day football game will never be forgotten, for not once did the public address announcer mention that our naval base had been attacked. The announcer that day was Arthur Daley, now sports columnist of the New York Times.

You'll see all that and a lot more on the show. The bat boy for the Giants the day the ball park opened will be on the show as he is still alive, the talk is lucid and the memory vivid.

The show may even convince you that what the Mets, last occupants of the Polo Grounds, played was really baseball.

Army Baseball Team Slates 24 Games; to Open April 1

WEST POINT, N. Y.—Army's first opponent in a 24-game baseball schedule this spring will be Long Island University. The Blackbirds will meet the Cadets next Wednesday at West Point's Doubleday Field at 3:30 p. m.

Coach Eric Tipton, starting his seventh season as Army baseball mentor, has a rebuilding job to do this year in both the infield and pitching departments. Lettermen strength is available at catcher and in the outfield but only two hurlers, Jim Mirando and John Rogers, and shortstop Walt Kulbacki return.

Letterman Ed Haydash, an all-League first-team choice for two years, and veterans Art Kierstead and Terry Rusnak have the early edge in the outfield.

Coming into the spring sport from the winter season are hocky players Bart Barry and Dick Peterson and basketballers Joe Kosciusko and Mike Silliman Barry and Silliman are seeking infield spots while Peterson and Kosciusko are pitching candidates.

The schedule calls for 18 home games, including an April 27, exhibition with the New York Yankees at 3 p. m., and six road stands. Weekday home games, except the Yankee game, start at 3:30 p. m. Saturday games are billed for 2:30 p. m.

The schedule follows: April 1—Long Island University, 8—Colgate, 10—at Villanova, 11—at Pennsylvania, 13—Columbia, 17—Fordham, 18—Yale, 22—Penn State, 25—at Cornell, 27 New York Yankees (Exhib.), 28—CCNY, 29—Rider, May 1—at Brown, 2—at Harvard, 6—Rutgers, 7—St. John's, 9—Ithaca, 13—Lafayette, 15—Manhattan, 16—Dartmouth, 20—Syracuse, 23—Princeton, 27—Seton Hall, 30—at Navy.

Predict Easy Victory For Indiana Swimmers

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Powerful University of Indiana, an uncrowned champion for several years, opens its fight today for the NCAA swimming and diving team title.

Experts say the Hoosiers, eligible in NCAA competition for the first time since 1960, are a cinch to win by about 20 points, leaving Southern California, the 1963 champions, and host Yale to battle it out for second place.

Surgery Scheduled For K. L. (Tug) Wilson

CHICAGO (AP)—K. L. (Tug) Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic committee, is to undergo surgery today in Wesley Memorial Hospital.

Doctors said his general health was good after several days of tests and observation. He is expected to be hospitalized two weeks.

Wilson minimized his ailment and said he was looking forward to the Olympic Games in October in Tokyo.

Women's Place

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Of 592 male boat owners interviewed at the National Boat Show in New York, 51.5 per cent reported that they were influenced in their decision in selecting a boat by women in their families.

Kentucky Greets First Negro on Football Squad

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Steve Matthews, 5-foot-11, 200-pound Negro fullback from Detroit, is making a bid to become the first of his race to compete in athletics at Kentucky and in the Southeastern Conference.

The youth, who transferred to Kentucky last semester, failed in attempts to make the freshman and varsity squads at the University of Detroit.

"He's a student and meets all the requirements to come out for the team," said Charlie Bradshaw, head coach of Kentucky who greeted 69 other football prospects at the first day of spring practice Wednesday.

Other coaches in the SEC, which has been segregated since its founding 30 years ago, expressed little surprise at Matthews' effort.

Kentucky's athletics board said last year it was opening the athletics program to anyone regardless of race. The university has not yet recruited any Negro athletes.

Union Good Friday Service, Based on Seven Last Words

A service for Good Friday, under the sponsorship of Saugerties Area Council of Churches, will be held at Saugerties Reformed Church from noon to 3 p. m.

The pastors of the various area churches will lead the service based on the meditations on the "Seven Last Words" uttered by Christ from the cross. Soloists from the churches will interpret the mood of the crucifixtion.

The Rev. August Pfaus Jr., minister of Blue Mountain Reformed Church, will speak on the word, "Father, Forgive Them For They Know Not What They Do." The minister of First Congregational Church, the Rev. Frederick Imhoff will lead the second meditation based on the word "Verily, I Say Unto You, Today Shalt Thou Be With Me In Paradise."

The third word from the cross, "Woman, Behold Thy Son!" will be led by the Rev. Henry Reinewald, pastor of Plattekill Reformed Church, Mt. Marion.

The Rev. Walter Cowen, pastor of Atonement Lutheran Church, Saugerties, will speak on the fourth word, "My God, My God, Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me?"

The fifth word from the cross will be considered by the Rev. Joseph Rainear, minister of Saugerties Methodist Church. This is the simple phrase uttered by Christ, "I Thirst."

Leading the meditation of the sixth word uttered from the cross, "It Is Finished", will be the Rev. George Wood, minister of Flatbush Reformed Church.

The final meditation will be given by the Rev. Alvin Messersmith, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Camp, "Father, Into Thy Hands I Commend My Spirit."

The public is invited to come to the service when they can and may leave when necessary. There will be nursery care for children in the chapel of the Reformed Church, the entrance on John Street. Organist for the service will be Howard Houghtaling, organist and choir director of Saugerties Reformed Church. Soloists will include Miss Mildred Newkirk and Miss Mildred Coons.

St. Mary's P-TA Hears Address Of Father St. John

Catholic schools have become a partner with public education, the Rev. George St. John, principal of St. Patrick's Central Catholic High School, Catskill, recently told the Parent-Teacher Association of St. Mary of the Snow.

Father St. John explained the Cincotta Bill, number A3125, which, if passed by the New York State legislature, will provide a $100 scholarship incentive program for Catholic high school students similar to the one already in use at the state colleges.

Open School, which will take the place of the April business meeting, is scheduled for Sunday, April 19, from 1 until 5 p. m. At this time the students' midterm report cards will be given to the parents, instead of being sent home with the youngsters.

Since Catholic education is dependent on the priests and sisters to staff the schools, Sister Leo asked the parents to encourage their children if the young people have such a vocation.

The date for first communion was set at Saturday, May 16. Parents will also have a chance to vote on a proposed change in the school uniform. Sister Leo said that these notices would be sent home with the children. She thanked all mothers who have helped at lunchtime during the school year.

During the business meeting, James Guarde, chairman of the committee on proposed constitutional changes, moved to add two trustees to the regular slate of officers. Their terms would overlap and add continuity of experience to the board. A report was heard from Mrs. Faye Washburn on the recipe book. Mrs. Washburn asked for help in getting the book ready for the printer.

Mrs. Pearl Christianna announced that there will be a bake sale Sunday, April 26 after the Masses. Proceeds from the two previous sales this year were $128.10, according to Mrs. Christianna.

Co-chairman Mrs. Germaine Hein reported a net profit from the card and bunco party of $183.01. Mrs. Hein thanked her co-workers, especially co-chairman Mrs. Helen Keeley, the Mrs. Mary Cook, Gilda Iannone and Clara Wynne, and the Seamon Funeral Home, who donated the tickets.

President Warren Martin appointed a nominating committee and asked that they return a slate of two nominees for each office. Those serving are Fred Hull, Jack Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Florence Myers. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cecile Bosse and her committee of fifth grade mothers.

3,000 Candy Eggs To Be Object of Hunt on Saturday

Saugerties Jaycees will hold its annual Easter egg hunt at Cantine and Knaust Fields Saturday 11 a. m. About 3000 candy eggs will be hidden in four separate areas by the Jaycees.

This event is planned for children between the ages of 2 and 12 years. The boys and girls will be separated into four age groups as follows: 2-3, 4-5, 6-8 and 9-12. Upon a signal from the Easter Bunny, the children will scatter into their designated areas to find as many candy eggs as possible. Special prize eggs will also be hidden in each area and to the lucky ones that find these will go an extra special gift.

In the event of rain the hunt will be held 11 a. m. Saturday, April 6, at the same location.

Glasco School Has Easter Assembly

Participating were Bert Legg, announcer; Cindy Mooers, mother; Joseph Greco, father; Barbara Gardner, grandmother; Joseph Hellenschmidt, grandfather; Deborah Caruso, Arlene Mann, Lee Lafferty, Robin Milikofsky, and George Turner as the children; Richard Lorenz as Peter Cottontail; and Michael Adams, Susan Andersen, Michael Brocco, Dennis Corea, Barbara Durkin, Robin Evans, Joseph Ferraro, Debra Hasbrouck, David Holmquist, Frank Mower, Joyce Salvatore, Mary Tompkins and Sheri Vadalma as bunny helpers.

Selections by the choir were Danny Boy, Irish Air; The Deaf Old Woman, Missouri Folk Song, and In Joseph's Lovely Garden by C. Dickinson.

SHS to Provide Six Courses in Summer Session

Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools, today announced plans for summer school sessions.

Saugerties High School will offer six courses in summer session if there is sufficient demand. The subjects include chemistry, driver education, industrial mechanical drawing, personal use shorthand, personal typewriting and improvement of reading. Each course is considered advanced and is open to pupils who have not taken the subject previously. A registration fee for residents of the Saugerties Central School District will be charged.

Begin on July 6

With the exception of driver education, all classes will begin on July 6 and continue until the third week in August. Driver education will start on June 22 and be concluded on July 31.

The hours for the courses are as follows: Chemistry, 8 a. m.-12:30 p. m.; driver education, 8-9 a. m. daily for book work plus driving classes of one hour each for groups of four, four days a week; all other subjects, 8 to 9:45 a. m. or 9:50 to 11:35 a. m.

The chemistry course is the equivalent of the usual one year high school course. A pre-requisite for the course is elementary algebra. A Regents examination will be given. This course grants one unit of credit.

For the driver education course a pupil must be 16 years of age by June 26. Only pupils without drivers licenses will be admitted. Preference will be given first to next year's seniors, then juniors, sophomores and freshmen. One half unit of credit will be granted.

Carries One-half Unit

The mechanical drawing course is intended especially for a pupil who plans to pursue a skilled trade, study drafting, or work in an occupation involving the reading of schematic drawings, and blueprints. This course carries one-half unit of credit.

Personal use shorthand is an alphabetic shorthand course intended especially for college-bound students who wish to learn to take notes rapidly. It may also be of value to the graduate of a general high school program who wishes to learn a skill which may be of value in office work. It is not intended to take the place, however, of the shorthand studied by commercial students. This course carries one-half unit of credit.

Personal typewriting is an introductory course intended especially for college-bound pupils who wish some training in this subject but who find it difficult to include typewriting in their program because of required academic courses. This course is not intended for one who plans to do stenographic work. This subject bears one-half unit of credit.

A course in improvement of reading is being offered to pupils who wish to improve their reading skill. No credit will be granted for this subject.

Registration April 7

Preliminary registration for these courses must be completed with the Saugerties High School guidance department by April 7.

Pupils attending Saugerties High School may complete their registration by filling out the blank distributed to each pupil in grades 9-12. Other pupils residing in Saugerties Central School District may register by notifying in writing Miss A. Frances Larned, director of guidance, Saugerties High School concerning the courses for which they wish to enroll. Any subject for which there is insufficient registration by April 7 will be cancelled.

Measles in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—An epidemic of measles in Dallas may reach a peak this week or next, City Health Director J. W. Bass says.

Dallas recorded 475 cases of measles last week making a total of 1,260 cases of red measles and 12 of german measles the first 12 weeks of 1964.

The city had only 877 cases during 1963. Dr. Bass said "probably only 30 per cent are not reported or counted." The worst recorded year for measles in Dallas was 1958, with 12,822 cases.

Brush Pile Fire Delays Session On Vols Bazaar

An alarm of fire at 8:30 Wednesday night broke up a meeting of Centerville Fire Company's summer bazaar committee in progress at the firehouse.

The committeemen hopped on the two pumpers and responded to a fire in a brush pile along Churchland Road. One pumper proceeded to the scene, the other was returned to the fire station.

The committee has been conducting weekly sessions to plan a firemen's bazaar this summer. The date and other particulars are expected to be announced early next week.

Camp Fire Group Has Pajama Party

Okiodako Jr.-Hi group of Saugerties Camp Fire Girls held a pajama party recently at the home of their leader, Mrs. Barbara Earley in Lake Katrine.

Beatle records and refreshments were highlights of the evening.

Saturday morning, reinforced by breakfast, they went for a short hike to the country store. The hike had helped to build an appetite, so the girls then prepared and enjoyed a stew which they cooked outdoors over an open fire.

The girls were: Sharon Johnson, Carolyn O'Connor, Lorraine Benz, Christine Vig, Linda Ward, Patricia Young, and Rita Stonehouse.

Easter Vacation Activities Slated

The YMCA staff has arranged an interesting Easter vacation for boys with lobby tournaments in table tennis, eight ball pool and checkers in all three age groups.

Regular programs will be held on Saturdays. The Y is not open on Good Friday. All other weekdays the Youth Department will open at 9 a. m. and a gym class will be held for all boys starting at 10 a. m. followed by a swim. Special swims will start at 2 p. m.

Tuesday and Thursday the lobby will remain open for boys who wish to bring their lunch. Special circus practice will be held on the gym at 2:30 p. m. The circus and gym exhibition will be held April 11. All parents, brothers, sisters and friends are invited to see this annual show.

Almost all children 7 to 13 years old were enrolled in school in 1963, according to a Census Bureau survey, while about 93 per cent of those 14 to 17 were registered.

The New York City Board of Aldermen changed the name of Longacre Square to Times Square shortly after the cornerstone of the Times Tower was laid on Jan. 18, 1904.

Wallkill Man Held For Jury on Charge

Accused of stealing three chain saws from a Wallkill establishment last Nov. 19, Clifford Birch, 21, of that community was arrested Wednesday by State Police BCI Investigator Richard Ryan of the Kingston sub-station.

Trooper Robert Houghtaling said Birch allegedly stole the saws from the Valley Farms Supply Co. at Wallkill.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster, Birch waived preliminary hearing and was committed to the county jail pending grand jury action on a third degree burglary charge.

Senate Will Take Up Rights Bill Passed by House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, breaking a deadlock lasting since March 9, voted today to take up for formal consideration the House-passed civil rights bill.

Southerners, who have used the motion to take up as the basis for lengthy speeches bitterly attacking the bill itself, finally let the vote come on the 17th day of the debate.

67-17 Ballot

The motion, made by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, passed overwhelmingly as expected.

The roll call was 67-17.

The Senate met today at 9 am., three hours ahead of its usual time, and the roll call came without any further speech-making.

This first vote cleared the way for a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to send the bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., for 10 days of hearings and study.

Democratic leaders planned to try to kill this move with a tabling motion later today but expected the outcome to be close.

Could Begin Monday

However, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill, predicted that the tabling motion would win and that the Senate could begin its debate on the bill itself Monday after a three-day Easter recess.

Sponsors of the legislation say too much time already has been lost on civil rights and that the Senate should not put it aside now that the battle has been joined.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced steadily early this afternoon in heavy trading.

Gains of most key stocks were moderate but buying pervaded many sections of the list.

The cigarette stocks made fairly substantial gains for this depressed group, some of the advances going to a point or more.

Steels were active and fractionally higher. Motors were unchanged to a bit higher.

The rise included coppers, drugs, electronics, rubbers, chemicals, electrical equipments and rails.

The business news background remained quite good. Although machine tool orders in February declined from the January rate they were far ahead of a year ago. Analysts continued to mention that financial reports for the first quarter should make bright reading for investors.

The market was higher from the start and held most of its gain.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds were mixed.

Matthews of 156 West Chestnut Street, a group of 45 women from the city and townships were addressed by Lloyd A. Newcombe, Catskill business man, who is seeking the Republican nomination for State Senator. Mr. Newcombe has announced he will oppose Senator E. Ogden Bush, incumbent, at the June 2 primary. Pictured with Mr. Newcombe are Mrs. Robert Carnright of Saugerties; Mrs. Frank B. Matthews, hostess and Mrs. G. Robert Numrich of Lomontville. In his address, Mr. Newcombe, a former resident of Kingston, called for the election of a young man with progressive ideas who would inaugurate a progressive, forward program. He called the program of the incumbent a "mark-time" program and said it was time to move forward and put the 34th Senatorial District in the lead among those of the state. (Reynolds photo)

Areas Concerned Over Low Water

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (AP)—The water level in the St. Lawrence River has dropped to its lowest point in 30 years, causing concern to municipal officials from Iroquois to Gananoque.

Rivermen say they have not seen the level so low since the dry years of 1933 and 1934. Drops of two to four feet from last year's level has been reported.

The low level has caused discoloration of community water supplies at nearby Prescott, where residents have been complaining of dirty water for three weeks.

The low water level has been attributed partly to the lack of snow and rain during the winter. Creeks are runnning low and some streams, which normally carry spring water to the St. Lawrence are dry.

Jury Indicts 4 Ex-RR Employes On Dynamite Plot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A federal grand jury had indicted four former Florida East Coast Railway employes on charges that they conspired to "derail, disable and wreck" trains of the strike-bound railroad.

All four men, the last of whom was arrested Wednesday, are charged on two counts of conspiracy and with actuallly plotting to dynamite a train.

Dates of the alleged conspiracy are given in the indictments as "'from Feb. 1, 1961 to the present." Five FEC trains have been blown off the tracks since Feb. 1.

As the indictments were returned, the Miami News reported that dynamite found lashed to the FEC tracks near Vero Beach March 12 was part of 800 pounds stolen from the Horne Company near Homestead the weekend of Feb. 1-3.

Latest to be arrested in the case by FBI agents was John Katsikos, 40, a part-time college student, father of four, and recording secretary of Local 555 of the Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen.

Hold Merged Stock For Partial Recovery

Q) "I got talked into buying Lear, Inc., which merged with Siegler to become Lear-Siegler. My stock stands me $35 a share. Do you think I should sell this stock?" —H.F.

A) I am extremely sorry that you have suffered such a severe loss in Lear-Siegler. This stock has never been one of my favorites, but I don't think it's as bad as the market appears to be indicating.

Lear-Siegler is quite an important figure in aerospace work and does a substantial amount of business with industrial and commercial companies. Last year's sharp decline in earnings was due in good part to non-recurring expenses.

It seems quite possible that earnings for fiscal 1964 will be up to $1.50 a share. That would indicate a reasonable price-earnings multiple of 10 at present levels.

Defense stocks are in limbo for the time being, but Lear-Siegler looks pretty well sold out and in your place I would hold for at least partial recovery.

Q) "We recently purchased American Telephone for our son who suffers from cerebral palsy. We own Long Island Lighting, General Telephone, Pacific Lighting, Orange & Rockland Utilities, Leslie Fay, Inc., Roosevelt Raceway, and American Express. Which of these do you suggest that we transfer to him for growth?" —H.G.

A) Please allow me to offer you my sincere sympathy on your son's condition.

You have, on the whole, a good list of stocks. Pacific Lighting has proposed a split and increased its dividend, but it is not really a growth stock. Leslie Fay, Inc., and Roosevelt Raceway are rather speculative for your particular purpose.

American Express has compiled a splendid long-term record of growth but is under a cloud because of the deep involvement of a subsidiary in the Bayonne salad-oil scandal.

2 From Reliance Attend Study on Welding Methods

Herman Cermak and Thomas R. Feeney, both welders with Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Corp., 613 Abeel Street, have just returned from a one-week Advanced Welding Seminar for supervisors held at the Cleveland, Ohio plant of The Lincoln Electric Company, world's largest manufacturer of arc welding equipment.

The Advanced Welding Seminar provided an opportunity to personally observe and evaluate the latest mechanized production welding methods including Innershield arc welding—a new arc welding process being pioneered by Lincoln. The seminar also promoted discussion and study of arc welding as a manufacturing system to better understand how this system can be applied to reduce manufacturing costs and improve product performance.

Seminar attendance stems from all parts of the United States and Canada. The week-long program includes lectures, welding equipment demonstrations, problem solving periods and film and slide presentations keyed to a practical approach to arc welding design and fabrication. Illustrative examples discussed during the lecture sessions cite techniques currently used by industry.

Lower Rates Go Into Effect for High Falls Phones

New York Telephone today announced that lower monthly charges went into effect Wednesday for many of its High Falls area customers.

G. A. Johnson, company manager, said 462 telephone customers will receive decreases which will total about $4,600 a year.

He said that at the same time 36 customers will receive slight increases. Some of the increases provided for better grades of service—an individual line, for example, in place of a party line. Under the new rates an individual line is only slightly more than the old party line rate.

"Rapid growth in demand for telephone service makes it possible to reduce rates for many of our customers outside the main part of the High Falls exchange," Johnson said.

The vessel broke in two between the pilot house and engine room, and parted several hours later.

The builder of the 544 - foot San Jacinto was Sun Shipbuilding Co. of Chester, Pa. The Coast Guard said a new bow section was added by Todd Shipbuilding Co. of Galveston, Tex., in 1953.

Second Break

It was the second time a portion of the 11,257-ton vessel had broken in two with a loss of life.

Just 12 years ago while sailing under the name Fort Mercer, the ship broke in two after colliding with the tanker Pendleton off Cape Cod. Fifteen persons died in this collision.

The stern of the Fort Mercer was towed to Galveston where it was refitted with a new bow and the ship was rechristened.

T—Trace

More thunderstorms, rain, sleet and snow swept wide areas in the eastern half of the nation today in the wake of violent storms which injured more than a score of persons.

Tornadoes skipped across areas in southeast Missouri, northwestern Alabama and Georgia Wednesday as stormy weather erupted in parts of the Midwest and South.

Twister Hits School

About 20 persons were injured and three schools, 36 houses and several farm buildings were destroyed by twisters which struck Wayne, Butler and Reynolds counties in southeast Missouri. Among the injured were 13 students and a teacher in a school at tiny Clubb, which was struck by a tornado.

Seven persons were injured when a twister struck in a farm area near Addison, Ala. Several houses were damaged. A small tornado ripped apart a service station in Palinview, Ga., but no one was hurt.

Heavy rain doused areas in Kentucky, Southern Illinois and Indiana. Tornadic winds lashed the Logansport, Ind., area, damaging five airplanes and several farm buildings.

7-Inch Green Bay Snow

In the Midwest, more than seven inches of snow covered Green Bay, Wis. Moderate to heavy snow fell in the Dakotas, parts of Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois. Light snow was reported in the Great Lakes region. Temperatures dropped to 13 below zero in Jamestown, N.D.; were below zero in parts of South Dakota and Minnesota and near zero in Iowa and Wisconsin. Freezing weather extended southward into Arkansas and northern Texas. Temperatures outside the cold belt appeared near normal levels with readings in the 70s in parts of the Southeast.

Doctors See Signs Of Pneumonitis In General's Lung

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army doctors found signs of moderate inflammation or pneumonitis at the base of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's right lung today and started treatment with antibiotics. He is still in serious condition.

Brig. Gen. Henry S. Murphey, commandant of Walter Reed Army Medical Center, described the general's condition Wednesday night as critical. But he said the general was doing satisfactorily, and was improved over his extremely critical condition of Monday.

Still Seriously Ill

"He is still seriously ill," Gen. Murphey said in response to newsmen's written questions.

The 84-year-old general was operated on March 6 for removal of his gallbladder. Then 17 days later he suffered severe internal bleeding and required emergency six-hour surgery from which he is now recovering. The second crisis was not related to the earlier surgery, doctors said.

Personal messages have also been received from the emperor of Japan; the prime minister and foreign minister of Japan; the presidents of the and South Korea; former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, other notable persons and thousands of citizens.

The general took small quantities of liquid food — broth and milk — at frequent intervals Wednesday. He speaks — a few words at a time — with his family and the medical staff.

Cornerstone Rite Slated at NYU's Catholic Center

His Excellency, the Most Reverend John J. Maguire, Vicar General of the Archdiocese of New York will bless the cornerstone for the new Generoso Pope Catholic Center at New York University, Tuesday 3:30 p. m. The $1.5 million dollar center will be completed in June of this year.

The new facilities replace and enlarge those of the old center that was located at 69 Washington Square South, and which was demolished in June of 1958. The new site is one block west of the old — at Washington Square South and Thompson Street.

The new center was designed by Eggers and Higgens. The complex is highlighted by a Holy Trinity chapel in contemporary style. Earl Neiman designed the interior of the chapel which will seat 315. The work is progressing rapidly; all the stained glass has been set in place.

Among other activities, the new structure will house the University Newman Club, the Omega Association, the Voluntary International Student Association and St. Thomas More Legal Society.

The John H. Eisele Company of New York is the general contractor for the structure.

U.S. HEADACHES IN SOUTHEAST ASIA—The United States currently is faced with six major headaches in Southeast Asia. They are in: 1. South Viet Nam, a country beset with coups—the latest by the present Khanh administration—and a war against Communist guerrillas. 2. North Viet Nam, which is sending Viet Cong guerrillas into South Viet Nam. 3. Laos, a testing ground for a troika form of government—communistic, neutralist and rightist—now being shaken by repeated breaches of the neutrality guarantee given in Geneva. 4. Cambodia, wracked with anti-U.S. riots, has renounced U.S. military aid and is bartering with the Soviet Union for arms ranging from machine guns to jet planes. 5. Malaysian Federation, facing renewed threats by Indonesia, is endangering the cease-fire agreement worked out by U.S. Attorney General Robert Kennedy. 6. Indonesia is promising its people to crush Malaysia.

Car Is Abandoned In Chase, Thefts Probed by Police

A station wagon owned by George M. Jacobson, Route 209, Box 203, Hurley, and driven by Paul Jacobson, 19, of that address, reported taken last night from where it was parked on Broadway near Dederick Street, was spotted by Officers George Dougherty and Lewis Keator headed over West O'Reilly Street, and was found abandoned at Wilbur Avenue and South Wall Street by the officers at 8:40 p. m.
